PARK TO FITCH

This indenture made this 15th day of January in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Thirty Eight between WESLEY PARK of the County of DeKalb and the State of Indiana of the first part and NATHANIEL FITCH of the County of Carroll and State aforesaid of the second part, witnesseth that the said party of the first part for and in consideration of the sum of $200 lawful money of the United States to me in hand paid by the party of the second part the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged by the said party of the first part hath granted, bargained, and sold and by these presents doth grant, bargain, and sell unto the party of the second part and his heirs and assigns forever all the tract or parcel of land known and described as follows towit:

The West half of the Northeast Quarter of Section Nine in Township 32 North of Range 12 East.

To have and to hold the above described premises hereby sold and conveyed unto the said NATHANIEL FITCH, his heirs and assigns forever together and all and singular appurtenances there unto belonging or in anywise appurtenant to his own proper use, benefit and behoof.

And the said WESLEY PARK and SOPHIA doth sell themselves, their heirs, executors and administrators the aforesaid lot or tract of land and appurtenances to the said NATHANIEL FITCH, his heirs, executors and administrators against the claim or claims of all and every person will warrant and forever defend.

In Testimony whereof the said WESLEY PARK and SOPHIA, his wife, hath hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written. Signed, sealed, and delivered in the presence of John F. Coburn and J. L. Jacob.

This indenture is a part of Nathaniel's original property. Since it is the West half, it would seem to be the 80 acres that is now the Bicentennial Woods or the half just West of where the house stands.

Note that Nathaniel Fitch is said to be of the County of Carroll in January of 1838. He may have been working on the Canal locks at the time, but for some reason must have been living or registered in Carroll County. We do not know for sure what time he left Pennsylvania and started for Indiana, but would appear this may be the first property he purchased in Allen County. We know he must have moved here shortly after this as he married Sarah DeLong in 1840.

GEORGE DELONG TO NATHANIEL FITCH

This indenture made this 8th day of July, 1857, between Henry Hogue, administrator de bonis non of the estate of George DeLong, deceased, late of Allen County, Indiana, of the first part, and Nathaniel Fitch, of the said county, of the second part, witnesseth, that on the 14th day of July, 1856, Samuel DeLong, administrator of said estate filed his petition in the court of common pleas of Allen County, Indiana, praying for the sale of the undivided interest that the decedant held at the time of his death in the following manner described lands:

The east half of the north west quarter, and the west half of the north east quarter, except 9 acres off the east side of the last piece and 60 acres off the north side of the east half of the south west quarter, all in section 4, Township 32, North of Range 12 east, in Allen County, Indiana, making Joel DeLong, Samuel DeLong, Alexander DeLong, James DeLong, Mary Ann DeLong, Joseph DeLong, Rebecca DeLong, and Julia Ann DeLong, widow and heirs of said decedent, parties thereto, and Samuel DeLong being removed as administrator de bonis non of said estate. Such proceedings were afterwards had in said court that on the 8th day of April, 1857, the administrator de bonis non was ordered to sell the undivided two-thirds of said lands at public sale, and having advertised the same, the said Henry Hogue did on the 23rd day of May, 1857, proceed to sell said undivided two-thirds between the hours prescribed by law, at the courthouse door in said county, and the said Nathaniel Fitch having bid therefore the sum of $1,500.00 and being the highest and best bidder, the same was struck off and sold to him, and the said administrator de bonis non having reported said sale to the court of common pleas of Allen County, Indiana, the same was duly confirmed by said court in all things, said administrator de bonis non ordered by said court to make said purchaser a deed for the said two-thirds of said land. Now Know Ye, that I, Henry Hogue, administrator de bonis non of the estate of George DeLong, deceased, for and in consideration of the said sum of $1,500.00 to me in hand paid by the said Nathaniel Fitch, and by virtue of order of the said court, do hereby sell and convey unto the said Nathaniel Fitch and to his heirs and assigns forever, the said undivided two-thirds of all aforesaid land to have and to hold the same as ample a manner as the same was held by said George DeLong at the time of his death, free and clear of the claims of all heirs of the said George DeLong, or any person claiming under, by, or through them or any of them.

In witness thereof I have as such administrator de bonis non hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year first aforesaid.

MATHIAS FITCH HOUSE

Mathias Fitch built his home on the Fitch Road in 1876. This was up the hill from the sawmill and carding mill.

Today, 1972, there are three original buildings standing. The house, the barn, and the old hog barn which was the old carding mill that they moved up the hill and put on a cement foundation. The foundation is crumbling pretty badly and may undermine the building soon.

The house was very much as it is today, especially from the outside. The front porch was built on and the house sided with shingles earlier this century. John Fitch did much of this work. Inside a few partitions have been removed so the rooms would be larger and a bathroom has been added. Also the kitchen remodeled.

The doors are butternut wood cut in the sawmill and the woodwork is oak and butternut. By the construction I would say that Mathias probably did most of the work himself, but he may have just cut the wood and someone else did the work. It is not a gingerbread type of house that was so popular in those days.

Mathias got his drinking water from a spring below the hill. They carried it up in buckets. When he went to his farms in Iowa he always got an upset stomach and diarrhea because he couldn't stand the water. He went out there to check on his land holdings about once a year.

Bertha and Cecil Myers own the house now and live there with Bertha's sister, Manilla Damann. They have taken beautiful care of the place and the yard always looks like a showplace. They have lived there since 1924.

There used to be a tenant's house right across the road where Mathias and his wife had his help live and other Fitches lived in that house also. John and Belle lived there and Warren and I lived there the first two years we were married. It was our first home. A pump and a path!!

If the carding mill was built in 1840 parts of the hog barn are about 133 years old. The house would be about 95 years old. Carding is the act of getting the wool ready to spin. This was a very laborious process to do by hand.

Original home of Matthias Fitch, son of Nathaniel, on the Fitch road. Presently the home of Cecil Myers. The old saw-mill was on this property.

Schuyler Fitch	Dec. 24, 1869	April 17, 1952

Althea Fitch	Dec. 30, 1880	Nov. 4, 1930
Beatrice Fitch	Aug. 1, 1884	Nov. 16, 1969

Mathias Fitch was the 2nd son of Nathaniel and Sarah (DeLong) Fitch. It is possible that his real first name was Josiah and that was the reason they nicknamed him "Sci" or "Si". That name is found only in the newspaper notice of Sarah's death and he is named as Josiah M. Fitch there. All other things in which we have found his name including legal deeds, etc., he is called Mathias Fitch.

Mathias farmed 240 acres in Perry Township, Allen County, Indiana and made a specialty of raising sheep. He also owned farmland in Iowa. He ran the water-powered saw mill that was on his farm as his father, Nathaniel, had done before him. The saw mill was a 60 x 20 foot one-story building. He took over the running of the mill in 1870 and installed a feed-grinder. He continued the operation of the mill until 1908 when it was abandoned. It was in operation for 68 years.

Mathias was a member of the "Regulators", an organization formed to rid the county of outlaws. David Fitch, and Jacob Kell were also members of this courageous organization.

Mathias died December 10, 1923, and is buried in Perry Cemetery near Huntertown, Indiana. Frances, his wife, was buried beside her husband. She died May 26 of the same year so preceeded him in death by a few months. Born the same year, they both died the same year.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$$

It is shown that the function $f(x)$ is continuous and differentiable on the interval $[0, 1]$. The derivative of the function is equal to $f(x)$ itself. This means that the function satisfies the differential equation $f'(x) = f(x)$. The general solution of this equation is $f(x) = Ce^{x-1}$, where C is an arbitrary constant. The initial condition $f(0) = 0$ implies that $C = 0$. Therefore, the function $f(x)$ is identically zero on the interval $[0, 1]$.

2. In the second part of the paper, we consider the function $g(x)$ defined by the equation

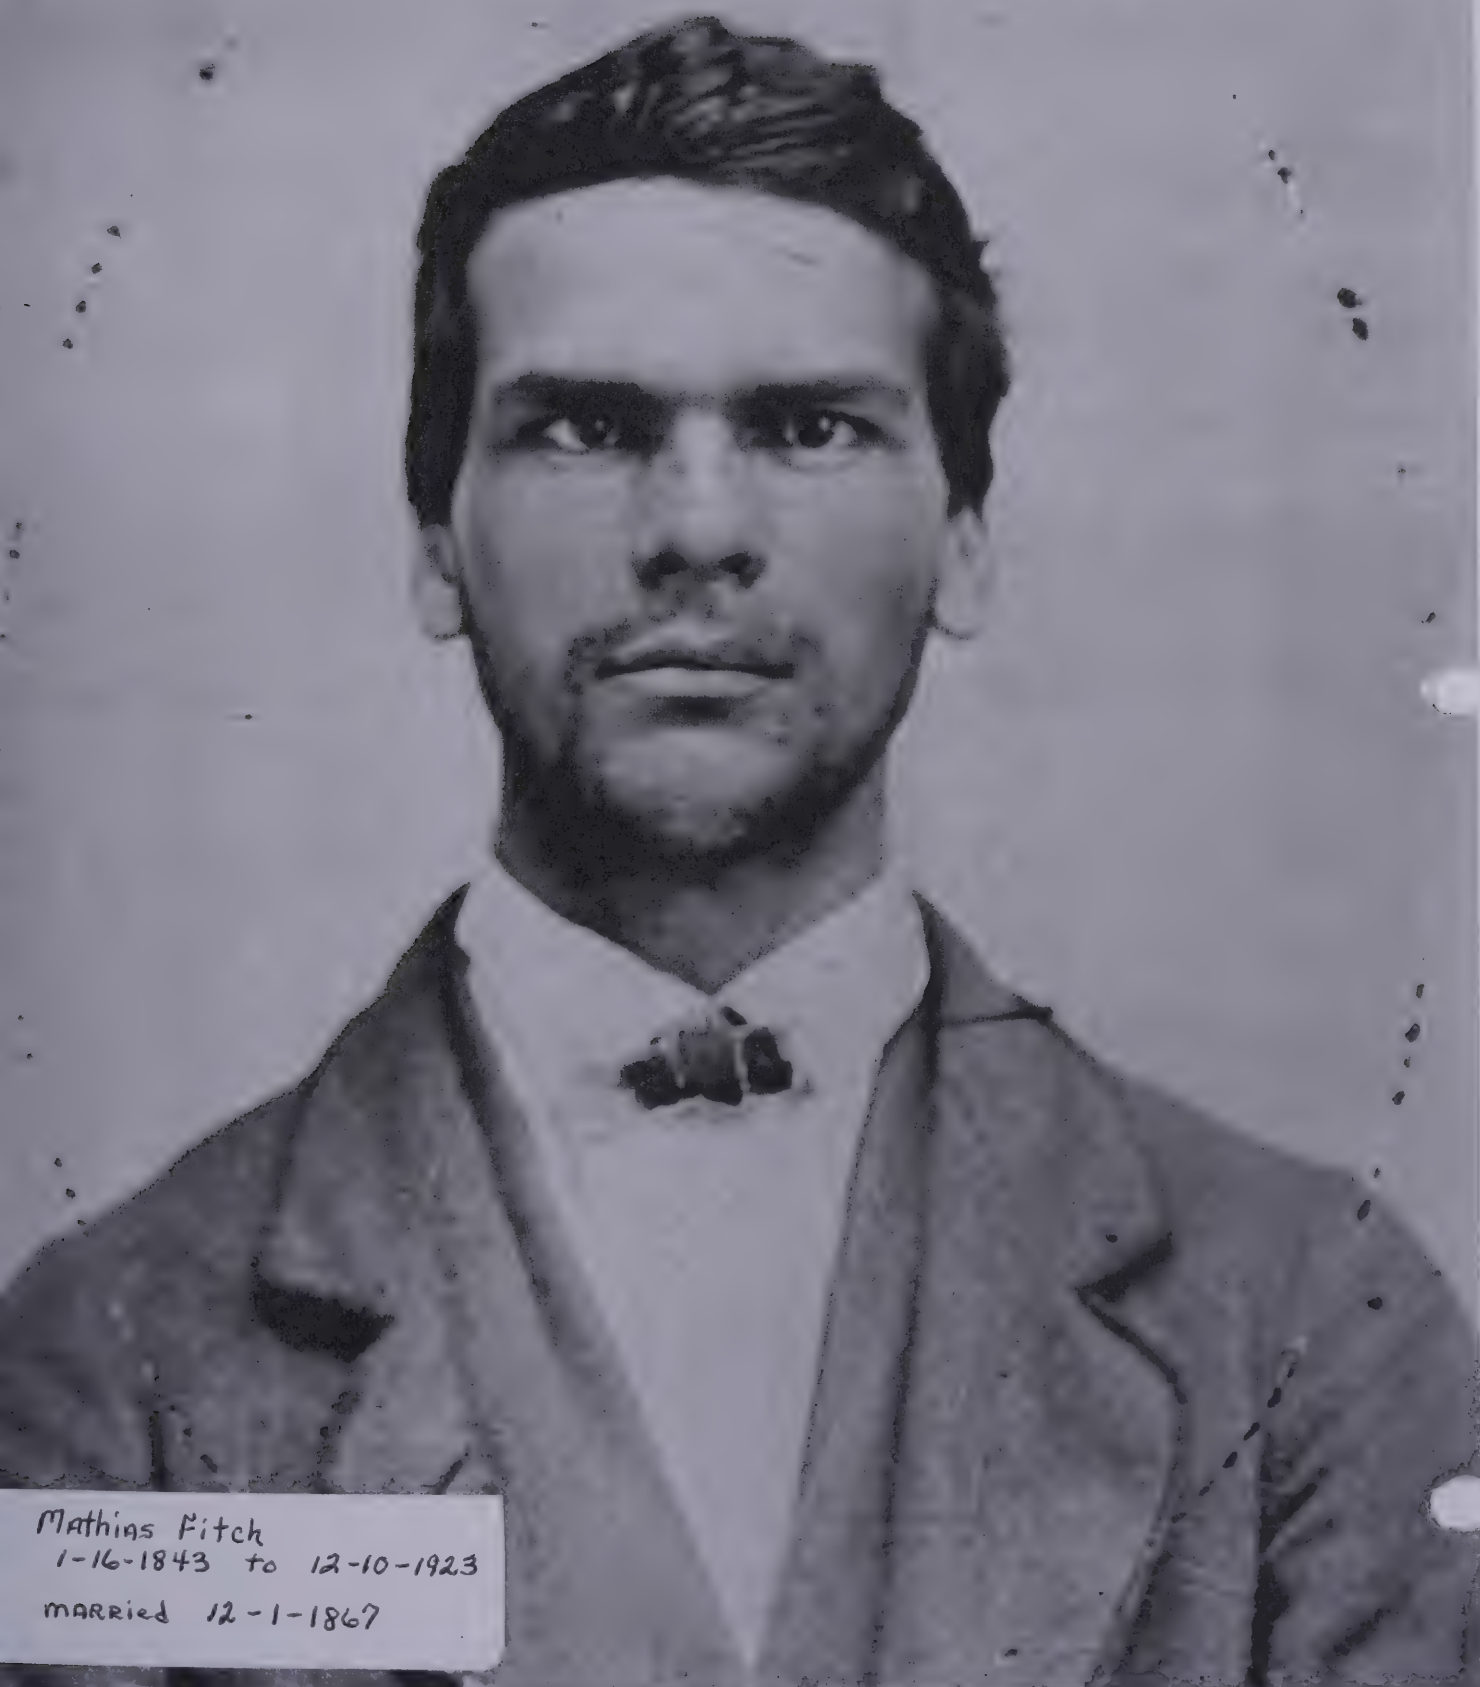

$$g(x) = \int_0^x g(t) dt + x$$

It is shown that the function $g(x)$ is continuous and differentiable on the interval $[0, 1]$. The derivative of the function is equal to $g(x) + 1$. This means that the function satisfies the differential equation $g'(x) = g(x) + 1$. The general solution of this equation is $g(x) = Ce^{x-1} - 1$, where C is an arbitrary constant. The initial condition $g(0) = 0$ implies that $C = 1$. Therefore, the function $g(x)$ is $g(x) = e^{x-1} - 1$ on the interval $[0, 1]$.

3. In the third part of the paper, we consider the function $h(x)$ defined by the equation

$$h(x) = \int_0^x h(t) dt + x^2$$

It is shown that the function $h(x)$ is continuous and differentiable on the interval $[0, 1]$. The derivative of the function is equal to $h(x) + 2x$. This means that the function satisfies the differential equation $h'(x) = h(x) + 2x$. The general solution of this equation is $h(x) = Ce^{x-1} - x^2$, where C is an arbitrary constant. The initial condition $h(0) = 0$ implies that $C = 0$. Therefore, the function $h(x)$ is $h(x) = -x^2$ on the interval $[0, 1]$.

MATHIAS FITCH..... LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

IN THE NAME OF GOD, A MEN, I, MATHIAS FITCH, of Allen County, Indiana, being of sound mind and memory and appreciating the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, do make, declare and publish this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills made by me.

ITEM I

I give, will, bequeath and devise to my beloved wife, Frances Fitch, for and during her natural life, all property both real and personal which I may own or have any interest in at the time of my death.

ITEM II

On December 7, 1914, I made certain deeds of conveyance to certain of my children, for the purpose of advancing to each of them approximately the sum of Sixteen Thousand ($16,000.00) Dollars from my said estate. Among which deeds were two to my daughter, Beatrice V. Fitch, now Beatrice V. Leacraft. After the execution of said deed and delivery of same unconditionally by me to Guy Colerick for the benefit of said Beatrice V. Leacraft, I, for her benefit, sold Six Thousand Six Hundred ($6,600.00) Dollars worth of timber off of said real estate and all of which, except the sum of Six Hundred ($600.00) Dollars I have retained, therefore, I hereby give, will and bequeath to said Beatrice V. Leacraft the sum of Six Thousand ($6,000.00) Dollars, less any payments thereon that may be made by me during my life time, the same to be paid to her in either money or United States Government Bonds at par, upon the death of my wife.

ITEM III

When I executed the deeds of conveyance referred to in item one of this will, I did not give any deed of conveyance to my son Schuyler Fitch, but intended to give to him Sixteen Thousand ($16,000.00) Dollars as an advancement in my estate, partly in real estate and partly in money, so that he would receive an advancement on his interest in my estate about equal to the value of the land given to each of my other children, namely about Sixteen Thousand ($16,000.00) Dollars. Since said time I have deeded to him land in the State of Washington of about the value of Five Thousand Nine Hundred Twenty ($5,920.00) Dollars and which has been accepted by him at such value and I have paid to him on said advancement, the sum of Two Thousand Eight Hundred Eighty ($2,880.00) Dollars, therefore I hereby give, will and bequeath to my son, Schuyler Fitch, the sum of Seven Thousand Two Hundred ($7,200.00) Dollars less any amounts that may be paid thereon by me during my life time, the same to be paid upon the death of my wife.

ITEM IV

I give, will, bequeath and devise, subject to the provisions of Items 1, 2, and 3 of this will, all property, both real and personal, which I may own or have any interest in at the time of my death to my children living at the time of the death of the survivor of myself and wife and to the descendants of such of them that may be deceased at said time, the share of those dying in the lifetime of myself or wife to go to their descendants.

ITEM V

I hereby nominate and appoint Guy Colerick as the executor of this my last will and of my estate.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 16th day of August, 1921.

Signed.....Mathias Fitch

The above and foregoing will was, this day, executed by the testator, Mathias Fitch, in our presence and in the presence of each other and at his special instance and request subscribed our names hereto as attesting witnesses this 16th day of August, 1921.

Leacraft, the amount of the legacy, namely Six Thousand ($6,000.00) Dollars, provided for by Item II of said will, and I therefore hereby execute this codicil to my said will, and hereby cancel said legacy of $6,000.00, and annul and cancel the provisions of said Item II of said will.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 24th day of February, 1922.

MATHIAS NOTEBOOK

These are small things gleaned from the notebook we have that Mathias kept of some of his business dealings with neighbors concerning mainly his saw mill. The book was a small leatherbound book about 3 x 4 inches with the initials imprinted on the front of W. H. On the first page it says it was "Presented by Wm. Hammer (or Hammon) to Fitch. It was a blank journal in which Mathias wrote a week of his diary plus other items that needed to be recorded. Though little is clear and precise it may mean something if put altogether.

"Consideration on organization of L. S. Ladies considered. A motion was made and carried that the ladies should be invited to at our next regular meeting. A committee of four was appointed. J. Hillegas, me, Fitch, H. Wilkison, _____ to draft bylaws and constitution."

He then begins his pages on business matters.

James Fair to days work – to March 1st, 1868 18 $\frac{3}{4}$
Probably James E. Fair who was the son of Abraham and Christina, born abt. 1845.
Would have been related to Mathias through Christina a sister of his mother.
Guess that makes him a cousin through his mother's DeLong family.

Jeffison Sickler to work – to March 1st, 1868 – 2 20
Caiwood to sundries - $.58
Cash for hose – 25
For ham – 28
Change with Smith – 5

Jefferson Sickler was a cousin of Mathias Fitch. He was a son of Nathaniel's sister who married a Sickler back in PA. There was a time when Jefferson Sickler lived in Allen County and stayed with Nathaniel and Sarah. He also married one of the Hand girls and so spent some time of his married life in Allen Co. Eventually they went West and they died out there.

W. DeLong (probably Washington DeLong and prob. for sawing lumber)
247, 264, 204, 143, 1868, November 16
Cut 1 inch lumber of various amounts, total being 1736 multiplied by 40 and equaled $6.9440
Assumption then this is board feet of some sort which he charge 40 cents making the grand total of $6.94.

Washington DeLong was a brother to Mathias's mother so would have been his uncle.

Lewis Holbrook to sawing:

Appears some of the wood was poplar, some ash, some was poplar siding in various thicknesses, several pages of siding and flooring, scantling, oak and ash

Received on account $20.....still due $59

Settled in full December 4th 1869

Page 4 of Lewis's account then shows more lumber, fencing, posts totaling $6.34.

Apparently it was all settled on December 4th, 1869. We might assume that Lewis was building a house. "Scantling" were studs used in building "less than 5 inches thick".

(Lewis Holbrook, an early settler to Butler Township, DeKalb Co., and just across the county line. Lewis lived on what is now county road 68. And some of his descendants live there to this day. One of them went to school with our Timothy, James Holbrook, and they had a daughter who was closer to Katie's age.

Bricker to sawing: (The Brickers were from DeKalb Co.)

Had oak cut, lath, and some poplar. Paid $3.50 down and the account was settled on October 1, 1870.

F. West to sawing: This has to be Fisher West.

Sawed a lot of 2 x 4's, 2 x 8's, 1 x 3's

Fisher apparently settled this part of his account in full on January 16, 1869.

Another page without a name on top but next to Fisher's was for "barwood", oak 4 x 4's And settled in full October, 1870. (Did they build their big house during this period of time?? Or expand it from a smaller place?? Though the house was said to have been built in 1855, it is doubtful that it was built as it is now with brick and all that early. West was surely building something rather large with all the big pieces of lumber he was using. Of course it might have been a barn also.)

At this period of time we know that Mathias had been married about 3 years. He was married to Frances Vandolah in 1867. So he were no doubt running the saw mill at that time.

J. Squires to sawing:

Many pieces of hickory in varying sizes was cut for Squires. All sizes shapes, and lengths. He cut 19 tongues. Whether these were tongues for wagons or tongue and grooved pieces of lumber is not known. Perhaps if we can find out what profession Squires had we might know. Perhaps he was a wagon maker. Squires whole amount to December 20th was $87.98.

Ira West to sawing: Ira West was Fisher West's brother. He had a home in Butler Township, DeKalb Co. and so was not far from Mathias's sawmill.

Ira must have brought a lot of Walnut to be sawn. The date was January of 1869. At one point he must have paid $20 cash. Other than that we don't have a total. Perhaps there will be more pages for Ira later on.

J. Shryock This family lived also in Butler Township and would have owned at one time the Otis Fitch farm and several fields north of there. A well-known DeKalb Co. farmer. He had some beech, some oak, and some walnut and some cherry. Number of feet were 3824 x 40 = $15.2960 and $16.776 totaling 32.072. He paid 20 in Cash and then paid the rest in full but no date was given.

J. Bigelo His total bill seemed to be about $37.60.

Mathias was the 2nd son of Nathaniel and Sarah DeLong Fitch. He was born in a log cabin where Nathaniel's large new house was to be built. Mathias farmed 240 acres in Perry Township and made a specialty of raising sheep. He also owned farmland in Iowa. He ran the water-powered sawmill that was on his farm, as his father Nathaniel had done before him. The sawmill was a one-story building 60 by 20 feet. Mathias took over the operation of the mill about 1870 and installed a feed grinder. He continued the operation of the mill until 1908 when it was abandoned. This mill was in continuous operation for 68 years. Mathias was a member of the Regulators, an organization formed to rid the country of outlaws. JOHN R. ROWLEY

Both Miss Carroll and Mr. Rowley were instantly killed in yesterday's crossing horror. The pictures were the only ones obtainable yesterday. Mr. Rowley's likeness was taken from a family group and the picture of Miss Carroll, taken a number of years ago, was, so far as could be learned, the only one in existence.

DANFORD S. PARKER DIES SUD-DENLY AT HUNTERTOWN.

Well-Known Resident of Allen County for Seventy-five Years—Seemed in Excellent Health—The Deaths.

One of the pioneer residents of Allen county, Danford S. Parker, died suddenly of apoplexy at 1 o'clock Monday morning at his home in Huntertown, aged eighty-six years four months and twenty-two days. Mr. Parker came to Allen county seventy-five years ago and spent three-quarters of a century as a resident of the county.

Death came unexpectedly. Mr. Parker had been in excellent health Sunday, and Sunday evening enjoyed a hearty dinner with the members of his family. About midnight he complained of stomach trouble, but little was thought of the incident at the time and simple home remedies were administered to relieve him. When a little later relatives went to the room they discovered he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy and death came in a short time.

The deceased was born in Jefferson county, New York, in 1823, and came with his parents to this county in 1834. The family settled on the Perry township farm near Huntertown, where death occurred. In 1855 Mr. Parker got the gold fever and went to California, where he lived three years before returning to Allen county. In 1844 he was united in marriage to Permelia Rickert, who, with two children, preceded him in death. The two children surviving are Mr. Wilson Parker and Mrs. Harvey Fitch, with whom he made his home.

Mr. Parker was for years a democrat in politics, but later turned to the cause of prohibition. He was one of the most widely known men in the county, and he lived a model life. For years he was a conspicuous figure in religious work at Huntertown. Mr. Parker was the first president of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance association in Allen county.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the Universalist church at Huntertown.

HUSBANDS RAPPED BY BILLY SUNDAY IN OMAHA TALK

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 23.—Billy Sunday won the affections of every wife, young or old, and a lot of prospective brides here recently when he lambasted erring husbands and exposed many masculine shortcomings.

The husbands squirmed on their seats and many looked guilty. If Omaha wives were shocked by hubby kissing them when he got home they might guess he was at the tabernacle and was perfectly sober.

If the florists get hurry calls for flowers from many Omaha benedicts they may thank Billy Sunday.

Sunday told the husbands to do their lovemaking and say nice things about their wives now, not to wait until they select an epitaph.

Here's some of the things Billy said for the benefit of the Omaha husbands:

Brag on your wife while she is alive. Don't wait until the undertaker has her.

Say nice things to your wife now. Don't wait to carve them on her tombstone.

Many a dollar has been spent on rosewood coffins that should have gone for a hired girl.

Some men buy rosewood coffins and big bouquets for their wives, who never gave her $5 when she was alive.

Many men make a big splurge at the funeral to throw the wool over some other fool woman's eyes.

The height of irony is to read "At Rest" on the tombstone of a woman who was worked to death.

One man told me he married his wife because she was the best worker in the country. I knew another man who bought a mule for the same reason.

Scatter some rosebuds in your wife's path now. Don't wait until she is six feet under ground.

Some men wait to put the bouquets on the grave and say, "Darn you, smell them if you can!"

Tell the neighbors what good coffee your wife makes, so she can hear you.

Kiss your wife as you did when you were courting her. She won't mind.

Don't dress as if you were a rummage sale just because you've been married a few years.

WEDDING AT FITCH HOME IN RIVERTON

Miss Rowene Fitch, of Riverton, and
Carl Hubert Hartnett Were Wed
Wednesday Evening.

Mr. Carl Hubert Hartnett, of 311
Roy street, Seattle, and Miss Rowene
Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.
Fitch, of Riverton, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents at six o'clock on Wednesday evening, March 12 1913, in the presence of the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom,
Rev. J. Tinning reading the service.

The bride is an accomplished young lady and a graduate of the Queen Anne High School where she was one of the most popular students, and where the romance which culminated in marriage had its inception.

Mr. Hartnett is also a graduate of this school, where he played on the basket ball team of 1911, and was a member of the football team the previous year and also managed the track team.

Mr. Hartnett is an electrician and

BONDA RAMKER GONE

The people of Greene learned Tuesday morning with great surprise and sorrow that Bonda Ramker had passed away. He died that morning at five o'clock after a brave and hard struggle with death. He had been quite sick for the past week or two but he would not give up and rest.
His breathing was hard and his heart was in a serious condition. Death came to him thus in the middle of life.
Bernard Ludwig Ramker was born in Grant County, Wisconsin, October
8, 1868 and died in Butler County, Iowa, December 24, 1912. When he was about six months old his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. B. Ramker of Greene, came to Butler County to a farm about six miles east of Greene in Dayton Township. B. L. Ramker was married
May 21, 1893 to Miss Hannah Growin and to this union came six sons and one daughter. The oldest son died in infancy. The remaining children are Lewis, Willie, Glen, George, Floyd and the only daughter, Laura, ten months old. Besides the immediate family, he leaves to mourn his death, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Ramker, of Greene; two brothers, Theodore,
who farms six miles east of Greene, and Arthur, who is in the employ of the government in Chicago; and four sisters, Mrs. Luhring of Greene, Mrs.
Mrs. A. M. Bethke, of Greene, Mrs.
Herman Weiss of Greene and Miss
Della Ramker, of Greene.

The funeral services were held
Thursday morning at ten o'clock at St.
Mary's Church with Father Sheehy officiating and interment was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Bonda, as he was known by everyone, has been a farmer all his life, and knew how to bring results from the soil. He owned a 120 acre farm of Butler County's choice land. He was a member of the Modern Woodman Lodge and his wife will get $1000 insurance from that source.

He was a most sociable and good hearted man. He showed the friendly spirit to every one. He knew no one as simply an acquaintance but as soon as he knew a person he classed him as a friend and treated him so.
His jolly good nature was marked and made him well-liked by the people of this community. He was a kind father and devoted himself to his family. He was deeply sympathetic and could not bear to see any one wail.

The Press joins the many friends in extending the kindest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mr. John Fitch
R. R. # 1
Huntertown, Indiana

Dear Mr. Fitch:

I don't know whether or not you remember me; I came out to see you a year or so ago with Mr. Del. Fitch and Mr. Roy Welty, a lawyer, to get some information about 40 acres belonging to the estate of your sister Altha Fitch; that 40 has been sold.

What I am now writing about is for Mrs. Beatrice Leaycraft; she made a sale of the 128 acres she owns near your place, but it appears that she only has a life estate and after her death it goes to her children; but the deed from her father provides that if when she dies she has no children or descendants living, then the remainder goes to her brothers and sisters then living or to their children if they are dead. So we have to bring a suit under a special statute making parties defendant all of her brothers and sisters and their children now living. I took the dates of the deaths of your father and mother from Mrs. Leaycraft's abstract for the complaint; but she writes me that I have the dates wrong and asked me to write you to get the exact dates, that you had them recorded correctly in the old family Bible.

The dates I had were December 10, 1923 for your father's death and March 26, 1924 for your mother; this later date probably should be 1923 as Mrs. Leaycraft writes that her mother died first in the spring and her father in December of the same year; Please let me know the exact dates; I enclose a stamped envelope for your reply.

Of course there is a very slight chance of the proceeds of Mrs. Leaycraft's sale ever going to anyone but her children, because she has two children and one grandchild and it is hardly likely that all three will die before she does; if they do, then at her death the money realized from the sale after taking out the value of Mrs. Leaycraft's life estate will have to be distributed around among all these other parties, including yourself.

Very truly yours,

Creighton H. Williams

PRELUDE:

P: Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the source of all mercy and the God of all consolation. He comforts us in all our sorrows so that we can comfort others in their sorrows with the consolation we ourselves have received from God.

C: Thanks be to God.

P: When we were baptized in Christ Jesus, we were baptized into his death. We were buried therefore with him by Baptism into death, so that as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might live a new life. For if we have been united with him in a death like his, we shall certainly be united with him in a resurrection like his.

PROCESSIONAL HYMN: LBW 518 "Beautiful Savior"

+The Liturgy of the Word+

P: The Lord be with you.

C: And also with you.

P: Let us pray. O God of grace and glory, we remember before you today our brother Jake Kell. We thank you for giving him to us to know and to love as a companion in our pilgrimage on earth. In your boundless compassion, console us who mourn. Give us your aid, so we may see in death the gate to eternal life, that we may continue our course on earth in confidence until, by your call, we are reunited with those who have gone before us; through your Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

C: Amen

FIRST LESSON: Job 19:23-27a

O that my words were written down! O that they were inscribed in a book! O that with an iron pen and with lead they were engraved on a rock forever! For I know that my Redeemer lives, and that at the last he will stand upon the earth; and after my skin has been thus destroyed, then in my flesh I shall see God, whom I shall see on my side, and my eyes shall behold, and not another.

PSALM 23 (spoken in unison)

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.
He makes me lie down in green pastures;
he leads me beside still waters;
he restores my soul.
He leads me in right paths
for his name's sake.

Even though I walk through the darkest valley,
I fear no evil;
for you are with me;
your rod and your staff — they comfort me.

You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
you anoint my head with oil;
my cup overflows.
Surely goodness and mercy
shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord
my whole life long.

SECOND LESSON: Romans 8:31-35, 37-39

What then are we to say about these things? If God is for us who is against us? He who did not withhold his own Son, but gave him up for all of us, will he not with him also give us everything else? Who will bring any charge against God's elect? It is God who justifies. Who is to condemn? It is Christ Jesus, who died, yes, who was raised, who is at the right hand of God, who indeed intercedes for us. Who will separate us from the love of Christ? Will hardship, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, no angels, nor rulers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

C: Alleluia. Jesus Christ is the firstborn of the dead; to him be glory and power forever and ever. Amen.
Alleluia.

P: The Holy Gospel according to St. John the 11th chapter.

C: GLORY TO YOU O LORD!

HOLY GOSPEL: St. John 11:21-27, 38-44

Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died. But even now I know that God will give you whatever you ask of him." Jesus said to her, "Your brother will rise again." Martha said to him, "I know that he will rise again in the resurrection on the last day." Jesus said to her, "I am the resurrection and the life. Those who believe in me, even though they die, will live, and everyone who lives and believes in me will never die. Do you believe this?" She said to him, "Yes, Lord, I believe that you are the Messiah, the Son of God, the one coming into the world."

Then Jesus, again greatly disturbed, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone was lying against it. Jesus said, "Take away the stone." Martha, the sister of the dead man, said to him, "Lord, already there is a stench because he has been dead four days.”

Jesus said to her, “Did I not tell you that if you believe, you would see the glory of God?” So they took away the stone. And Jesus looked upward and said, “Father, thank you for having heard me. I knew that you always hear me, but I have said this for the sake of the crowd standing here, so that they may believe that you sent me.” When he had said this, he cried with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come out!” The dead man came out, his hands and feet bound with strips of cloth, and his face wrapped in a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Unbind him, and let him go.”

THE WATER-POWERED MILLS OF ALLEN COUNTY, INDIANA

Feb., 1942

by Roy M. Bates

"I wandered by the brookside,
I wandered by the mill,
I could not hear the brook flow,
The noisy wheel was still."

They are all still; not a single water-powered mill is in operation in Allen County today. From 1827 to 1885 there were 35 of these old mills erected along the major streams of this county. They served their purpose well but were eventually forced to yield to the competition of modern equipment and methods, and one by one they gave up the ghost.

Many of these mills were forced to go out of business or install steam equipment, due to the failure of the water supply. In the earlier days, the country-side was quite heavily forested and the watersheds were bordered by low swampy areas. These areas formed reservoirs which withheld supplies of water that gradually fed water into the streams throughout the dry portion of the summer season, allowing milling operations to continue. Tile drainage and the removal of forested areas, resulted in acute water shortages. No swamp areas or shaded leaf-mold are left to retain water from rainfall and thereby regulate its running-off to the streams.

The coming of the 20th century saw only a few of these mills still carrying on, and by 1912, the lone survivor had ceased operating. Thirty years have elapsed since that time and a visit to any of these mill-sites today will show you how thoroughly the elements and time have erased from the picture practically all evidence of their former existence. With one exception, all mill buildings have been removed from their original sites or have been dismantled. The dams which diverted water for mill operation have all been eradicated. The men who erected these mills have long since passed on. There are a few men and women living who have some knowledge of the details of these mills; some were employed in the mills, others resided in the vicinity; some are descendants of former owners or operators, and it is from these people that we have obtained much of the information presented here.

The story of these water-powered mills constitutes an almost forgotten chapter of our early industrial activity. Those people interested in this subject realize that already considerable information concerning these mills has slipped away from us never to be reclaimed. And in a few decades much more will have been lost through failure to record the facts while still obtainable from the descendants of the original owners. We must rely on those mentioned above for as many of the details as can be gleaned.

GLOYD'S MILLS

Known also as Vandolah's Mills and Cedar Creek Mills

The land on which this mill was situated was purchased from the government in 1832 by James Vandolah, on his first visit to Perry Township, for the purpose of locating a desirable site for a saw-mill. After purchase of the land, he returned to his home in Ohio. In 1835, he came back to the township and commenced work on the mill, completing it in 1839.

Successive owners of the mill throughout its 61 years of continuous operation, were George Gloyd; Jerone, son of George Gloyd; Edwin, brother of Jerome Gloyd; James Tucker, a former employee of Vandolah; and Jerome Bleekman, who has purchased the mill in 1896. The latter is the father of Arthur Bleekman, who has resided near the mill site for many years, and to whom we are indebted for much of the data concerning this mill. Mr. Eli Garman, a life long resident of the vicinity, has also given us much assistance.

The mill was located in the northeast quarter of Section 14, Perry Township, on the right (south) bank of Big Cedar Creek, where the Old Auburn Road crosses the stream by means of a long cork screw bend. The site is picturesque, being situated in one of the most scenic areas of Allen County, where Big Cedar Creek cuts a deep gorge through the broad Wabash moraine.

The sawmill was housed in a small one-story frame building and a short time after its erection, a two-story frame grist mill was built adjacent to it on the north. The latter building was about 60 feet by 40 feet in size.

The dam, about 200 feet in length and 7 feet high, was located a considerable distance upstream from the mill. The mill race, which was about a third of a mile long, supplied power to both mills. The sawmill, which was equipped with an upright saw, was abandoned during the ownership of Jerome Gloyd.

The grist mill was equipped with three four and a half foot French buhrs, one of which now reposes on the lawn of the Arthur Bleekman home nearby. One buhr was used for processing flour, another was used for grinding cornmeal, and the third was used for grinding chop feed. The mill was powered by one large over-shot wheel and an immense turbine wheel which now lies buried in the silt and the sand on the mill site.

The mill was discontinued in 1900 and considerable damage was inflicted on the buildings by floods and ice before being dismantled in 1922.

Our efforts have brought to light 35 of these waterpowered mills formerly operating in Allen County, and we are convinced that this list is complete. Some mills have been reported to us as having used water for power, and which later investigation proved not to be the case. On the following pages we have grouped these mills by watersheds, comprising the principal streams of the county and their tributaries, and in all cases the mills are shown in their order from the headwaters of the stream to its mouth, except the mills deriving their power from the Wabash and Erie Canal, which are listed from west to east.

The major streams and the number of mills located on each are as follows: Eel River, 1 mill; The little Wabash River (including Aboite River and Indian and Robinson Creeks) 4 mills; Big Cedar Creek (including Little Cedar Creek) 6 mills; The St. Joseph River (including Carnnan Creek and Becketts Run) 8 mills; The St. Marys River (including Nickerson and Lipes Creeks) 6 mills; The Maumee River (including Six Mile Creek, Koester Ditch, Bullerman, and Grass Creeks) 6 mills; and the Wabash and Erie Canal, 4 mills.

The greatest concentration of these mills in Allen County was within the present limits of the city of Fort Wayne and northward along the St. Joseph River and Big Cedar Creek. With one exception no water-powered mills were ever erected in the southeast portion of the county comprising the area lying south of the Maumee River and eastward from the St. Marys River. This was due to the flatness of the land and the sluggishness of the streams.

A census report of Indiana taken in 1840 shows that 19 water-powered mills were in operation in Allen County at that time, with a total capital investment of $34,000 and the value of the finished products of these mills amounting to $54,000. There were at that time 14 sawmills, 2 grist mills and 3 flouring mills. The same reports show that 2352 water-powered mills were in operation in Indiana at that time= 204 were flour mills, 846 grist mills, 1248 sawmills, and 54 oil mills. This serves to indicate the extent to which water was relied upon for power in those early days. The census of mills taken at that time was based on the type of products produced. For example, if a single establishment sawed lumber and also ground grain, this was treated as two mills, whereas in the following accounts we have listed them as one unit.

During the months involved in obtaining the data on Allen County water-mills, we have interviewed approximately 140 persons with some knowledge of the subject. Of this number, Mr. Orange Cook of Fort Wayne is probably the best informed man on water-powered mills in the county. His earlier years were spent in mill operation (see Cedarville Mill) and his knowledge of the subject is thorough. He is the only man in the county that we have been able to locate, who, if called upon, could still dress a mill stone or buhr, and if the occasion demanded, he could supervise the construction of the old type timbered dam. There are several men in the county who could still carry on mill operations and build dams but men in this locality who can dress buhrs are as scarce as skippers of square riggers.

THE FITCH MILL

This mill and the Manning Mill at Hamilton (Leo) both began operations in the year 1840 and quit business in 1908, a record of 68 years of continuous operation, being exceeded only by Stoner's Mill, which operated continuously for 76 years, the latter holding the record for the county.

Harry Fair erected a carding mill on Little Cedar Creek in 1840. Little Cedar is a tributary of Big Cedar Creek, and the waters of the two streams merge in Perry Township about three quarters of a mile south of the DeKalb County line. The mill stood on the left bank of the stream, a short distance above its mouth, in the Northeast quarter of Section 4.

The dam, about 65 feet in length and 4 feet in height, was situated in DeKalb County, about one mile upstream from the mill. The mill race serving this mill was the longest of any of the county.

The building was two stories in height and 40 X 20 feet in size. It was powered by an over-shot wheel. The mill was moved downstream and the race lengthened, after trouble developed with the water supply. Shortly after the mill was built it was purchased by Nathaniel Fitch, who erected a saw mill adjacent to the carding mill.

The saw mill was a one-story building 60 X 20 feet. Its equipment consisted of an upright saw, which was later replaced by a circular saw, and a 6-foot turbine wheel which remains on the site today.

The carding mill was abandoned about 1869 or 1870 and the saw mill was afterward operated by Mathias Fitch, son of Nathaniel, who installed a feed-grinder and continued the mill's operation until its abandonment in 1908. The carding mill building is now serving as a stock barn on the farm of John Fitch, who has given us the above information. A portion of the saw mill fell down and the remainder was dismantled.

STONERS MILL

(known also as the Shryock Mill)

This mill operated continuously for 76 years (1834-1910), the longest service record among the 35 water-powered mills of Allen County.

Blair & Wines erected the mill in 1834, on the line between Sections 3 and 4 of Perry Township, a little less than one mile south of the Dekalb County line, on the right (west) bank of Big Cedar Creek, and near the Old Coldwater Road (now U.S. 27). The mill was situated very near the confluence of Little Cedar and Big Cedar Creeks.

This was the first water-powered mill erected in Perry Township and was equipped only for sawing lumber by means of an upright saw. It is supposed that Blair and Wines were aided in their venture by outside capital. The following year 1835, Samuel Shryock acquired the mill and purchased a set of buhrs at Dayton, Ohio, after which he did custom grinding. Prior to the installation of the buhrs, an 18-inch corn-cracker had been installed, which later proved to be very unsatisfactory. Mr. Shryock operated the mill until 1850 or 1851. wjem Kpjn Stoner became the propietor. After a number of years of operation by Stoner, George Kell assumed ownership and installed the "Roller-Prpcess" for milling flour. After Kell, came Jacob Snyder and a partner, whose name we do not know. The last operator of the mill was William Freese, brother of Charles Freese, a prominent Fort Wayne business man. Mr. Freese closed the mill about 1910.

The mill building was very large, being 125 feet in length and 50 feet wide. It was of frame construction, two and a half stories in height. The mill sat astride the race, which was almost a mile in length. Water was impounded by a dam located to the north in DeKalb County. The dam was about 100 feet in length and 6 feet high, and was constructed of timbers, rock and debris. A reservoir was constructed near the dam to insure a good supply of water.

Prior to the installation of the roller-process, the mill was equipped with two 4-foot stone buhrs, one being used for wheat, the other for corn grinding.

The building stood for many years after its abnaddonment and was eventually torn down. The channel of Big Cedar Creek was deepened by dredging in 1916, and in the following year the dam was destroyed by spring freshets.

The country surrounding Stoners Mill is quite scenic, so the mill site became a very popular picnic ground. Groups came from Ft. Wayne and other nearby towns to spend Sundays and holidays amid the beauties of the Cedar Creek Hills. Shortly after the closing of the mill, some Fort Wayne citizens became interested in purchasing the site for recreation grounds, to be known as "Old Farm Garden," but the project failed to materialize.

Mr. John Fitch of Perry Township, and Mr. Willard W. Clark of Fort Wayne, had aided us in the preparation of this account.

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold. It was a sharp, biting cold that seemed to penetrate my coat. I shivered as I walked towards the entrance of the building.

I had heard that the weather in the north was harsh, but I didn't realize just how cold it would be. The wind was howling, and the snow was falling in thick, heavy flakes. I pulled my coat tighter around me and tried to keep my head down.

The building I was standing in front of was a large, imposing structure made of dark stone. It had many windows, some of which were covered in snow. I looked up at the entrance, where a group of people were standing. They were all dressed in heavy winter clothing, and some were wearing hats and scarves. I felt a bit out of place among them.

I took a deep breath and stepped forward. The ground was covered in a layer of snow, and my footsteps made a soft crunching sound. I felt a little more at ease as I walked, but the cold was still there, a constant reminder of the harsh weather.

I reached the entrance of the building and looked around. There were several people standing outside, some of whom I recognized. I saw a man in a long, dark coat and a hat, and a woman in a red coat and a fur hat. They were all looking towards the entrance.

I felt a bit nervous as I stepped inside. The interior of the building was warm and well-lit. There were several people standing in the hallway, and I saw a sign that said "EXIT".

I followed the sign and walked down a long, narrow hallway. The walls were made of dark wood, and the floor was covered in a layer of carpet. I felt a bit more at ease as I walked, but the cold was still there, a constant reminder of the harsh weather.

I reached the end of the hallway and saw a door. I opened the door and stepped outside. The cold was still there, but I felt a bit more at ease. I looked around and saw a group of people standing outside. They were all dressed in heavy winter clothing, and some were wearing hats and scarves. I felt a bit out of place among them.

THE JASON HATCH MILL

Jason Hatch cleared some land in the northeast portion of Perry Township and in 1834 built a sash sawmill on the right (south) bank of Big Cedar in the southeast quarter of Secion 10.

Not much is known of this mill. Kingman's HISTORY OF ALLEN COUNTY merely gives the date of its erection. The only person whom we have been able to find with some knowledge of its existence is Mr. Harvey Fitch, a resident of Hometown, who is now 88 years of age, and who as a boy spent considerable time in the vicinity of the mill site.

The dam serving the mill was a frail structure built of brush, gravel and debris, and required constant repair, due to the ravages of ice and high waters. It was about 70 feet long and 3 to 4 feet high. The site of this dam has for years been a favorite swimming hole and the site is now referred to as Miller's Dam, so named for the last operator of the mill. The mill was shut down some time between 1855 and 1858 and Mr. Fitch says that in later years, the mill was equipped with a corn-cracker. Some traces of the dam abutments are still visible.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations which are satisfied by the functions $u_i(x, y, z)$ and $v_i(x, y, z)$ in the domain G of the space E_3 . It is shown that the system of equations is solvable in the domain G if and only if the functions $f_i(x, y, z)$ and $g_i(x, y, z)$ satisfy certain conditions.

2. In the second part of the paper the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations is solved for the case when the functions $f_i(x, y, z)$ and $g_i(x, y, z)$ are polynomials of the coordinates x, y, z . It is shown that the system of equations is solvable in the domain G if and only if the functions $f_i(x, y, z)$ and $g_i(x, y, z)$ satisfy certain conditions.

This entry is so dim that it is very hard to read. It appears that Parker and Alma Fitch are on one side of John and Belle and it is impossible for me to tell who is on the other side. But if Harvey's family is on one side, then I assume they are still in the house across the road from Nathaniel's place.

By the time we get to the 1920 census it appears that John and Belle are living across the road from Mathias. Parker and Alma this time are two families away. In between we find Samuel Myers, and William Miles. I can make the assumption that they went from Parker's down 27 to the Myers and Miles homes and then stopped at John and Belle's before going across the road to visit Mathias.

“my god, it is perfectly horrible..”

The bare names and statistics of those who served in the Civil War do not give us the human side of this tragic war. It is difficult to imagine the hardships and sufferings of these sons of DeKalb County. What were their thoughts? What happened to them? Did they die in vain?

We are indeed fortunate to have available the Civil War diary of Quarter Master Sergeant Jacob Osborn Coburn to answer some of these questions. It covers the period from October 18, 1863, until March 2, 1864 and gives us penetrating and poignant insight into the experiences and thoughts of one DeKalb County soldier.

Jacob Osborn Coburn was born in Trumbull County, Ohio, in 1832, to John Fitch Coburn and Minerva Twadell Coburn. When he was four years old, his family moved to DeKalb County, Indiana. This was in 1836, one year before the new county was formally organized. The move was made with a group of other families from Trumbull County, Ohio. They settled in what was to become Spencer Township in the area later known as Coburntown or Coburn Corners, which is located at SR 101 and CR 64. The family farm was just north of the Coburn Corners Church of Christ.

He was known as Osborn by his family. His father served as the first clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court from 1837 to 1841, when the family probably lived in Auburn. His mother died October 8, 1840. The family moved back to the farm at Coburntown after Mr. Coburn's term as clerk expired. Thereafter, Mr. Coburn farmed and was very active in the church. In 1846 he became an “evangelist” and in 1865 he was appointed an “elder” in the Church of Christ. He was an active preacher and always available for an inspiring sermon.

Little is known of Osborn's education, but he was presumably educated in the early common schools of DeKalb County. He became a surveyor by profession. In May 1852, he married Martha A. Thomas. She died on June 12, 1861, at Napoleon, Jackson County, Michigan, where Osborn was working as a surveyor. Some time later he became engaged to marry Miss Eva Aldrich of Olcott, New York.

Before he married, he voluntarily enlisted in Company I, 6th Michigan Cavalry Regiment, which was partially raised in Jackson County, Michigan. His company was on the North Branch of the Shenandoah River where they engaged in action with Confederate Troops on October 18, 1863. The fight was commenced at 7:00 a.m. and by 9:00 a.m. “the entire Federal Command was marching under a strong guard” of Confederate Troops.

Sergeant Coburn kept a diary of his ordeal as a Confederate prisoner. It provides a rare glimpse into the conditions endured by northern soldiers in southern prison camps. Portions of the diary are here excerpted.

October 21, 1863. The drooping branches of the cedars, the cone topped pines interspersed here and there with chestnuts gold-tinted by frost's displeasure, the occasional chirping of a bird or whistle of a quail, aye, everything trying to make me believe I am not a prisoner of war. But the steady watch of the sentinel near me, the tramp of “Grayback” troops all around, assures me that it is too true and that escape is impossible.

The prisoners were marched for about fifty miles and then taken by train in passenger coaches to Richmond. Osborn's diary entries are like a travelogue and he does not appear to be particularly anxious at this point.

October 22, 1863. The country is very pretty and October has done much to improve it but that other “Act of War” has in places made sad havoc of the architecture, mechanics and laborers effort... We cannot get enough to eat, the citizens have not got it. One told a soldier “If it had not been for your d-d army we could have had plenty.” (The soldier) replied, “If it hadn't been for your d-d army ours would not have passed through here.” Secesh (Secessionist) replied, “Well that's so.”

October 25, 1863. Arrived at Richmond...and were marched to an old Tobacco house near Libby Prison where we turned in without any rations all day. Slept upon a dirty floor without any covers or anything under us. October 26, 1863. We find here a few troops from Burnside's, Grants and Rosecrans army... The news from the various seats of war are full as encouraging as we could expect through Rebel sources... Wrote a short letter to father and Eva (his fiancée) to be sent by flag or truce boat which is here.

Joe married Mary Ethel Clouse, 28 February 1911. Mary Ethel was born in Union Township, 9 June 1893, died 17 December 1979. She was the daughter of Rueben and Amanda (Lacey) Clouse. Joe and Mary resided on the farm on CR 43 their entire married life. Joe was a farmer and served as Union Township Trustee and Union Township Assessor.

Six children were born to Joe and Ethel. At that time the doctor came to the home and stayed until the birth, since roads were sometimes impassable. The children are as follows: Helen Erma (Miller) Huntsman, born 25 June 1911; Lela Virtle (Miller) Rathert, born 1 March 1914, died 26 October 1960; Donald Walter, born 13 August 1918; Richard Keith, born 1 December 1921; and David E., born 14 December 1927.

ELMORE N. CHANEY, born 1854, died 1930, and Lizzie Alvaretta Friedt, born 1861, died 1931, resided in Auburn around the turn of the century, early 1900's. He was a carpenter. They were married in DeKalb County in 1882, and resided in Corunna and Auburn. He was one of the first purchasers of a burial lot in Woodlawn Cemetery, Auburn, where deceased family members are buried.

Elmore's parents were George and Ruth Chaney, who came to Allen County, Springfield Township, in 1853, from Ashland County, Ohio. They had five children: Rezon, Milton, Walton, Elmore N., and Philip, who grew up on their farm and later were closely connected to DeKalb County. Rezon married Nancy Scott in DeKalb County in 1872, and Milton married Jennie Scott in 1882. Both men had farms and operated a butcher shop in Spencerville. They had no children. Walton Chaney and wife resided in Auburn after their marriage and he and son, Dayton, operated a men's clothing store on Main Street, across from the courthouse for many years until their deaths. Besides Dayton, they had a daughter, Ruth. Roy Chaney, son of Philip Chaney, and family were residents of Spencerville.

Elmore and Lizzie's children were Scudder Chaney, born 1883, and Eddie W., born 1885. Eddie never married and died in 1921. Scudder Chaney and Myrtle G. Miller were married in Auburn, 17 October 1904, by the Reverend G. Herendeen. Myrtle Miller was the daughter of David A. Miller, whose family were early settlers of Steuben County, Indiana. They resided in Auburn at this time, while he was employed in taking care of the horses owned by a lumber yard there. She was born in Steuben County in 1889.

Scudder and Myrtle Chaney had two children: Iris Eileen, born in Auburn, and Scudder A., born in Angola. After living in Auburn for several years, they moved to Angola, Steuben County, where Scudder was employed until his death in 1918, in the influenza epidemic. Myrtle died in 1982. Eileen Chaney and brother, Scudder A., went to school in Angola and Fort Wayne, and were employed by Lincoln National Life Insurance Company and General Electric Company of Fort Wayne. Scudder A. Chaney and Lucille Wilma Pyle, daughter of Oral Harrison Pyle, of Jay County, Indiana, were married in March, 1932. They have one daughter, Marian Louise (Chaney) Moyer, and four grandchildren.

LIZZIE FRIEDT, born 1861, daughter of Jacob Friedt, born 1824, Washington County, Pennsylvania, and Wayne County, Ohio. He married Sarah Snyder, born 1823, in 1844, in Ashland County, Ohio. He and his family came to Allen County, Springfield Township, in 1855. He was a carpenter. Lizzie's family were early citizens of DeKalb County. Jacob and Sarah had six daughters and one son. Only three, John Samuel, born 1857, Mira Bell, born 1859, and Lizzie, were born in Indiana.

Her grandparents were John and Lydia

(Zimmerman) Friedt from Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, who followed their son, Jacob Friedt, to Allen County. John and Lydia were married 28 November 1822, in Ohio. They had eight children, four of whom lived in DeKalb County after maturity. They were: Sarah Friedt, born 1835, married John Carper, of Auburn, a farmer, and lived there until their death. George Friedt, born 1831, moved from Ashland, Ohio, with his family to Garrett, DeKalb County, where he died in 1918. Henry C. Friedt, born 1827, in Wayne County, Ohio, came with his brother, Jacob.

In August 1862, at Spencerville, he enlisted and was mustered into Company A, 100th Indiana Volunteer Infantry, 10 September 1862, commanded by Captain M.L. Rhodes, which became attached to the Army of the Tennessee, which participated in twenty-five battles of the Civil War. He was honorably discharged in 1863. A short time afterwards, he married and moved to Osborn, Kansas, where he died at the age of ninety-three.

JOHN LOWE, born in Oldham, a manufacturing town in Lancaster, England, 12 April 1825. At the age of nine, he began working for his father, who was a cotton spinner. In 1850, after sixteen years in the cotton mills, he came to American, and went to a friend's home in Connellville, Pennsylvania. He left his trunk there. He took a steamboat to Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, from there to Cincinnati, Ohio, by boat. He walked across country to the Golvin Summers farm home and told his story and how he wanted to learn to farm. He worked on the Summers farm and nearby farms.

On 8 February 1852, he married Sarah Summers. In September, 1860, John Lowe and wife Sarah, along with their five children, moved onto the eighty acres north of the Franklin Township Center School.

In November, 1864, John Lowe went to the Civil War, and returned on 1 August 1865.

In 1870, John sold his eighty acre farm and bought the John Eckhart farm of two hundred forty acres, running a debt of $5400 at ten percent interest. He lived on this farm for twelve years and traded with a Mr. Haverstock for a farm on the Hamilton road.

To John and Sarah were born eleven children: Benjamin, Edwin, Samuel, Elizabeth (Lowe) Noragon, Martha (Lowe) Bowlby, John, Lorinda (Lowe) Jones, Margaret (Lowe) Kiplinger, Marshall, Emma (Lowe) Porter, and Inez (Lowe) Kaufman.

John Lowe died 9 October 1911, interment in the Hamilton Cemetery.

These would all be neighbors and frineds of Mathias Fitch living at the time in northern Allen County, IN. Being very near to the Allen/DeKalb County line, some may be from DeKalb.

Another short note that may be of interest to you. Remember the photo of Jefferson Sickler? I had a copy made and sent it to Ann Sickler Hassold, my Fitch/Sickler cohort who lives in California. She sent back what information she has on Jefferson.

Ann is a descendant of Abigail Fitch and Jacob Sickler, sister of our Nathaniel. We have corresponded for quite some time and she is very good at her research and has been so good and faithful to send me things like copies of wills of the Norwalk Fitches and that is where I finally decided that the Thomas Fitch line was probably the correct line for our family. It was not on her word, but on the handwritten wills, land records, and things that she sent that convinced me on this. When you see the peoples names, places, signatures, and where they name their children and grandchildren in handwriting and not in someone's book, that convinces me. Not that books are not good, but to convince ourselves we have to sometimes go to the source and see it for ourselves. I must be from Missouri!! No, still Indiana.

Anyway she sent me the information on Jefferson Sickler.

Son of John Sickler, born June 1814, in New York, died Nov. 9, 1863 in Overfield Township, Wyoming Co., PA.
and

Sarah Fitch (daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah Keeler Fitch), born June 16, 1821, in Luzerne Co., PA (Luzerne and Wyoming are the same) and died January 8, 1890 in Harmony, Jerauld, South Dakota, at the home of her son Jefferson.

Jefferson was born May 17, 1843 in PA and died in Santa Cruz, California March 10, 1916. He also had a younger brother, Everett, who died in Santa Cruz, in 1927. And two other brothers, Martin and Andy.

Apparently Sarah was either living with Jefferson or visiting him when she died, and he shipped her body back to Mill City, PA, in Wyoming County for burial. She is buried in Mill City Cemetery.

Ann took some of this information from Sarah's obituary that was in the newspaper and the newspaper file is at the Wyoming Historical Society.

So Jefferson would have been a first cousin to the rest of the Fitch boys that he is with in the picture and would have been about the same age as Mathias, both born in 1843.

Jefferson married Mary Jane Hand, August 3, 1868, in Allen County, Indiana. The Hand family is a common name in Perry township, and were related to the Vandolahs and the Tuckers. Mathias's wife Frances was a Vandolah and her mother was a Tucker, and her grandmother was a Hand.

Jefferson must have just kept on moving West as he started in Pennsylvania and ended up in California. About as far West as he could go.

Harvey Fitch is another of the native sons of Allen County who has given good account of himself as one of the worlds productive workers and is living virtually retired in the attractive village of Huntertown in Perry Township. He is a stockholder in the Farmers' Mutual Telephone Company and is president of the Huntertown Cemetery Association. The lineage of the Fitch family traces back to sterling English origin and the original American representatives of the family came to this country in the colonial period of our national history. Harvey Fitch was born on a pioneer farm in Perry Township, this county, July 15, 1853, a son of Nathaniel Fitch and Sarah Elizabeth (DeLong) Fitch.

Harvey Fitch is dedicated and acquired his early education in the district schools and in Perry Center Seminary, an excellent educational institution of the pioneer days in Allen county history. He continued his studies at intervals until he was about 18 years of age, and in the meanwhile had gained close and effective fellowship with the sturdy work of the farm. He continued as an exponent of the agricultural industry in Perry township and after his marriage at the age of 28 years, he established his residence on a farm of 160 acres, hard by the homestead of his father. ~~Later he purchased a portion~~ of his father's homestead and there continued his activities as a progressive agriculturist and stockgrower for a period of 14 years, within which he made his farm one of the model rural demesnes of his native township.

About 1906 Mr. Fitch removed with his family to his present attractive home at Huntertown, where he has since lived, practically retired, though he still gives close supervision to his various real estate and capitalistic interests. His political allegiance is given unreservedly to the Democratic party and he is well fortified in his opinions concerning governmental and economic affairs. He is a charter member of the Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at Huntertown, and both he and his wife are zealous members of the Universalist church. Their home is known for its gracious hospitality and the same cordial welcome is always assured to their wide circle of friends. On August 30, 1879, was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Fitch to Miss Etta Permelia Parker, who was born and reared in this county, a daughter of the late Dunbar and Permelia Parker of Huntertown. Mr. And Mrs. Fitch have five children:

1. Audrey, who completed a course in Angola College and is now the wife of George Hursh of Perry township.
2. Nina, completed her education in Valparaiso University, and is now the wife of Henry A. Emeric of Fort Wayne.
3. Parker Eugene, who has charge of the old homestead farm of his father and whose final education discipline was gained in Angola College, wedded Miss Alma Urbine.
4. Cecil completed the curriculum of the Huntertown public schools and is now the wife of Varnie E. McComb of Huntertown.
5. Ernest is a member of the class of 1917 in the Fort Wayne Business College.

Charles B. Fitch, Insurance

He was born in Medina Co., Ohio, May 23, 1859, the son of William W. and Aurella (Britnall) Fitch. His father was born in Charlemont, MA, and was 12 years of age when he accompanied his parents on their removal to Ohio, where he was reared to maturity and where he became a successful farmer, died in 1867. In Ohio was solemnized his marriage to Miss Aurelia Britnall, who was born in Seneca County, New York, and of their seven children all are living, in 1917, except one son who died while serving as a soldier of the Union in the Civil War.

The first of the Fitch family to reach America from England, the Rev. James Fitch, settled in Rhode Island in 1637 (questionable), and became one of the founders of that colony. It is related that at one time he sold 15,000 acres of land in Massachusetts for 125 pounds. Nine generations of Fitches since the Rev. James Fitch are easily traceable. There is a clear record of the English ancestry back to the year 1567.

The wife of Mr. Fitch was Miss Elizabeth Fryer, a daughter of the late, Henry Fryer of Avilla, Noble County, Indiana. Mr. And Mrs. Fitch have one daughter, Geraldine, who is 10 years of age in 1917.

Mathias and Frances were married on December 1, 1867

Children:

Lucy Fitch	Sept. 15, 1868	Sept 27, 1868
Schuyler Fitch	Dec. 24, 1869	April 17, 1952
John B. Fitch	June 23, 1872	Feb. 20, 1947
Walter Fitch	March 24, 1874	Jan. 2, 1902
Florence Bessie	May 10, 1875	July 9, 1942
Nathaniel Fitch	June 5, 1877	Sept. 14, 1877
Grace Fitch	Nov. 19, 1878	Aug. 18, 1879
Althea Fitch	Dec. 30, 1880	Nov. 4, 1930
Beatrice Fitch	Aug. 1, 1884	Nov. 16, 1969

Mathias Fitch was the 2nd son of Nathaniel and Sarah (DeLong) Fitch. It is possible that his real first name was Josiah and that was the reason they nicknamed him "Sci" or "Si". That name is found only in the newspaper notice of Sarah's death and he is named as Josiah M. Fitch there. All other things in which we have found his name including legal deeds, etc., he is called Mathias Fitch.

Mathias farmed 240 acres in Perry Township, Allen County, Indiana and made a specialty of raising sheep. He also owned farmland in Iowa. He ran the water-powered saw mill that was on his farm as his father, Nathaniel, had done before him. The saw mill was a 60 x 20 foot one-story building. He took over the running of the mill in 1870 and installed a feed-grinder. He continued the operation of the mill until 1908 when it was abandoned. It was in operation for 68 years.

Mathias was a member of the "Regulators", an organization formed to rid the county of outlaws. David Fitch, and Jacob Kell were also members of this courageous organization.

Mathias died December 10, 1923, and is buried in Perry Cemetery near Hometown, Indiana. Frances, his wife, was buried beside her husband. She died May 26 of the same year so preceeded him in death by a few months. Born the same year, they both died the same year.

MEMORIES OF GLOYD'S MILL

On a winding road at the foot of a hill
Are the tumbled down walls of Gloyd's old Mill

It's a scene of the past, our grandfathers made,
And a place where their children oft times played.

The miller was kind, so people have said,
And he ground the flour to make their bread.

The hills were steep and hard to climb,
But the trip was made many a time.

Across the creek still stands the bridge,
And the miller's home upon the ridge.

Those days are gone, but our memories still Take us back again to the grand old mill.

Horse-drawn wagons plowed through the mud,
Sometimes a wheel mired down to its hub.

'Twas common in winter to travel by sled
To get the flour to bake the bread.

Our late improvements and modern skill
Have banished the ways of the old water mill.

A Dream of the future that we might see
What a beautiful park these hills could be.

By Estella Rowe 1938

This was called Gloyd's mill for a time. According to Evelyn Gloyd this was George, father of Fitielia. Actually Fitielia was a Fitch and she married Jerome Gloyd, so this was probably the father of Jerome who ran the mill. It was originally the mill of James Vandolah, built by him and run by him until his death. Later the Gloyds became in control of the mill site and took it over. There was some kind of a problem about it, but I do not have the facts at this time. But it was actually the "Old Vandolah Mill".

(VI) John, son of Robert and Margaretta (Schuyler) Livingston, was born in 1700, died at Stillwater, September 17, 1791. He resided for some years at Montreal, Canada, but after the revolution removed to Stillwater, New York. He married Catherine, born September 11, 1715, died at Stillwater, April 6, 1802, daughter of Dirk and Cornelia (Stuyvesant) Van Broeck, and sister of Christina Van Broeck, who married Philip Livingston, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a daughter of whom married the Patroon Stephen Van Rensselaer. Children: 1. Abraham, see forward. 2. Colonel James, commanded a regiment of Canadian refugees under General Montgomery in his unsuccessful invasion of 1775 , and subsequently commanded a continental battalion of New York troops during the revolution. 3. Richard , also an officer. Catherine (Ten Broeck) Livingston was the granddaughter of Peter and Margaret (Livingston) Stuyvesant , the former being the great-grandson of Governor Peter Stuyvesant ; she was also the great-granddaughter of Gilbert and Cornelia (Beekman) Livingston , and the great-great-granddaughter of Robert Livingston , born in 1654 , died in 1728 , founder of Livingston Manor , New York , who emigrated to America in 1673 , and married, in 1679 , Alida Schuyler , widow of Rev. Nicholas Van Rensselaer . Peter Stuyvesant , grandfather of Catherine (Ten Broeck) Livingston , was the son of Gerardus and Judith (Bayard) Stuyvesant ; his cousin; grandson of Nicholas William and Maria (Beekman) Stuyvesant ; and great-grandson of Peter Stuyvesant , born in 1602 , died in 1682 , the last Dutch governor of New York , who married Judith Bayard . The Bayard line is as follows: Nicholas Bayard was a Huguenot clergyman who signed the Articles of the Walloon Synod in 1580 , and fled from France to escape religious persecution. Judith Bayard , born in Holland , granddaughter of the preceding, is the Judith Bayard who married Governor Peter Stuyvesant .

(VII) Abraham , son of John and Catherine (Ten Broeck) Livingston , was named after his uncle, General Abraham Ten Broeck , who having lost ten children in their infancy, selected him for his heir. However, three children were later born to this uncle, and the Ten Broeck fortune of two hundred thousand dollars was lost to the Livingston family. Abraham Livingston was an officer in the revolution, serving as captain in the First Company, New York Line, commanded by his 248a 249 brother, Colonel James Livingston , in 1776 and 1782 . He married, about 1784 , Maria Peebles , born at Half Moon , where she was also married, and died at Stillwater, New York . She was the daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Bratt) Peebles , and granddaughter of Gerrit and Maria (Ten Eyck) Bratt . Children: 1. Elizabeth , married - Hubbard . 2. Catherine , married Samuel Mather . 3. Rosanna , married Philip Schuyler . 4. John , was a major in the war of 1812 . 5. Angelica , died young. 6. Maria , married James O'Donnell . 7. Janet Vanderhyden , was baptized by Bishop Hobart , the first bishop of New York , and was born April 27, 1797 . She married, September 8, 1817 , Edwin Williams , the ceremony taking place at the home of her brother-in-law, Samuel Mather , at Middletown, Connecticut , and the Rev. Dr. Eliphalet Nott being the officiating clergyman (see Williams III).

(I) Benjamin Williams came to America from the Island of Bermuda when a young man, and settled in Middletown, Connecticut , where he died June 15, 1812 , at the age of forty-five years. He built and lived in the house on East Washington street subsequently known as the De Koven place, and at present as the Wadsworth House. He became a large ship owner and had many vessels plying between the East and West Indies and the port of Middletown , the towns on the Connecticut river having extensive shipping interests in those days. Then came the war of 1812 , and French privateers captured the greater number of his ships. He expected that the government would reimburse him for this loss, and died in the hope that his widow would receive what was her due, but this was never done. He married, February 11, 1786 , Martha Cornell , whose ancestry will be found hereinafter, and they had six sons and one daughter.

(II) Edwin , son of Benjamin and Martha (Cornell) Williams , was born in Middletown, Connecticut , April 22, 1795 , died in Stillwater, New York , September 9, 1842 . He married, September 8, 1817 , Janet Vanderhyden Livingston , born April 27, 1797 , died in Stillwater , March 26, 1844 (see Livingston VII). After his marriage and the birth of several children he removed to Stillwater, New York .

(III) Mary Livingston , daughter of Edwin and Janet Vanderhyden (Livingston) Williams , was born at Glens Falls , December 9, 1839 . She was married at Longmeadow, Massachusetts , December 21, 1865 , Rev. John W. Harding officiating, to Arthur Dean Medicott , born in New York City , June 12, 1843 , died at Middletown, Connecticut , April 7, 1908 . His father, William G. Medicott , was well known as the builder and owner of the Medicott Mills, at Windsor Locks, Connecticut , of which his son was superintendent for a time. Later he was interested in western railroads and industries. Children: 1. Gertrude , born November 17, 1866 , died September 29, 1881 . 2. Thomas Mather , September 11, 1868 , died February 27, 1870 . 3. Elizabeth , January 2, 1875 . Mrs. Medicott and her daughter are residents of Middletown, Connecticut .

(I) Thomas Willet , ancestor of Martha (Cornell) Williams , was born in 1511 , died in 1598 . He began his career as a public notary and officiated as such at the consecration of Archbishop Parker. Late in life he took holy orders, becoming rector of Barley, Hertfordshire , fourteen miles from Cambridge , which living had been presented to him by his patron, Bishop Cox . He was also admitted to the fifth prebendal stall of Ely in 1560 by his patron, Bishop Richard Coxe , with whom he had been associated as subalmoner to Edward VI. He had two sons and four daughters.

(II) Andrew , son of Thomas Willet , was born in 1562 , died in 1621 . After attending the Collegiate School at Ely , he entered Cambridge University at the age of fifteen years, and was quickly elected a scholar. He was graduated Bachelor of Arts in 1580 ; elected to a fellowship at Christmas, 1583 ; Master of Arts in 1584 , and in the same year was incorporated as a member of the University of Oxford . He took holy orders in 1585 , and was admitted, July 22, 1587 , on the presentation of the queen, to the prebendal stall at Ely , which his father had resigned in his favor. He quickly gained fame as a preacher, and was selected to read the lectures for three years in the cathedral church at Ely , and for one year at St. Paul's Church, London . He held the living of Childerly until 1594 . He was graduated Bachelor of Divinity in 1591 , and Doctor of Divinity in 1601 , and in 1597 was admitted to the rectory of Gransden Parva , in Huntingdonshire , but shortly after exchanged to Barley , his father having died, and was instituted January 29, 1599 . Twenty-three years of his life were spent here in the ministry. He was a very prolific writer, making it a rule to produce not less than one work each half year, and so learned and profound were these writings, that it was said of him that he was a "Walking library," and that "he must write in his sleep, it being impossible he should do so much waking." The method and regularity with which he worked were, 250 however, the secret of his success. He was chaplain-in-ordinary and tutor to Prince Henry , as well as a frequent preacher before the court. He was greatly admired by King James , yet able to adapt himself to his rural parishioners. It is owing to his influence with his friend, Thomas Sutton , that we owe that masterpiece of Protestant charity, Charterhouse. He fell into disfavor at court by his opposition to the Spanish marriage, and in consequence suffered imprisonment for a month. His death was the result of an accident. Upon his return to his home from a trip to London , he was thrown by his horse and had his leg broken. This was set in so improper a manner that mortification set in which caused his death at the end of ten days at the inn to which he had been taken, December 4, 1621 . A fine effigy and brass, placed in the church by his friends and parishioners, is still in a good state of preservation. He married Jacobine , a daughter of his father's friend, Dr. Goad , provost of King's, at Michaelmas , 1588 . Of his eighteen children, nine sons and four daughters survived him, and his widow was buried by his side in 1637 . His son Henry , who died in 1670 , lost a fortune of five hundred pounds by his loyalty to the king. Another son was Paul . Thomas is treated of hereinafter.

(III) Colonel Thomas Willet , immigrant ancestor, and fourth son of Rev. Andrew and Jacobine (Goad) Willet , was born in the rectory at Barley in August, 1605 , and baptized August 29 of the same year, died in 1674 , and is buried in an obscure corner of the Little Neck burial ground at Bullock's Cove, Swansey, Rhode Island . He was but sixteen years of age when his father died, and he continued to live with his widowed mother and maternal grandmother until he had attained his majority. Shortly afterward he went to Leyden and joined the second Puritan exodus to the New Plymouth plantations, and Governor Bradford mentions him as "being discreet and one in whom they could place trust." He was admitted a freeman in 1633 after he had become a successful trader with the Indians, and soon became a large ship owner trading with New Amsterdam . He was elected one of the assistant governors of the Plymouth Colony, and as a proof of his worth of character and commanding abilities, he was frequently chosen to settle disputes between the rival colonies of England and Holland . He also became captain of a military company. Early in 1660 he left Plymouth and establishing himself in Rhode Island became the founder of Swansey . Accompanying the English commander, Nicholls , he greatly contributed to the peaceable surrender of New Amsterdam to the English, September 7, 1664 , and when the colony received the name of New York , Captain Willet was appointed the first mayor, June, 1665 , with the approval of English and Dutch alike. The following year he was elected alderman, and became mayor a second time in 1667 . Not long afterward he withdrew to Swansey , where he spent the remainder of his life. In his religious views he was an independent. His descendants were numerous and included Colonel Marinus Willet , the friend of Washington , who himself became mayor of New York , and the "Dorothy Q. " of the poem of Oliver Wendell Holmes, was the great-granddaughter of Captain Thomas Willet , and the great-grandmother of the poet. He married (first) July 6, 1636 , -, who died in Swansey , daughter of Captain John Brown who, according to some authorities, came from Leyden prior to 1636 , with his wife, Dorothy , and three children, to Plymouth, Massachusetts . He also lived in Duxbury and Swansey , at which last place he died in 1662 . He received into his family the orphaned children, Mary and Priscilla , daughters of his brother, Peter Brown , of the "Mayflower." Captain Willet married (second) -, widow of John Penden

(IV) Andrew , son of Captain Thomas Willet , was born October 5, 1655 , died in April, 1712 . He married, May 30, 1682 , Ann , born July 20, 1663 , died December 4, 1751 , daughter of Governor William Coddington . Governor Coddington was born in Lincolnshire, England , in 1601 , died November 1, 1678 . He was chosen in England to be an assistant or magistrate to the colony at Massachusetts Bay , and arrived at Salem , June 12, 1630 , together with the governor and the charter, after which he was several times re-elected. He is said to have built the first brick house in Boston , where he was a "principal merchant." For some time he was treasurer of the colony. Having warmly espoused the cause of Mrs. Anne Hutchinson , in opposition to Governor Winthrop and the ministers of Boston , he was so chagrined at the result of this trial, that he abandoned his lucrative business in Boston and joined the emigrants who, in 1638 , left for Rhode Island . His name appears first on the covenant signed by eighteen persons at Aquidneck or Rhode Island , March 7, 1638 , forming themselves into a body politic "to be governed by the laws of the Lord Jesus Christ, the King of Kings." After a more formal code had been drawn up he was appointed judge at Portsmouth , then the chief seat of the government, three elders being joined with him in the administration of affairs. At Portsmouth he held office for a little more than a year, was then appointed judge at Newport , and when Portsmouth and Newport were united in 1640 , he was appointed the first governor. The four towns, Portsmouth, Newport, Providence and Warwick , were united in 1647 , he was the second president chosen, holding office from May, 1648 , to May, 1649 . In this year he made an unsuccessful attempt to have Rhode Island included in the confederacy of the United Colonies of New England . In 1651 he went to England , and was commissioned governor of Aquidneck Island , separate from the rest of the colony, but as the people were jealous lest his commission should affect their laws and liberties, he resigned it and for a time retired from public life. In his later years he was, however, prevailed upon to accept the chief magistracy. Governor Coddington married Ann , born in 1628 , died May 9, 1708 , daughter of Thomas Brinley , and auditor of the revenues of Kings Charles I. and II., as appears from the inscription on his tomb, in the church at Datchett, Bricks county, England .

(V) Martha , daughter of Andrew and Ann (Coddington) Willet , was born March 6, 1698 , died in 1780 . She married Simon Pease , son of William Pease .

(VI) Ann , daughter of Simon and Martha (Willet) Pease , married - Cornell .

(VII) William , son of - and Ann (Pease) Cornell , was born January 16, 1743 . He married, June 15, 1764 , Abigail Otis , born September 4, 1746 , whose line of descent will be found forward.

(VIII) Martha , daughter of William and Abigail (Otis) Cornell , died at Middletown, Connecticut , June 23, 1825 . She was married, February 11, 1786 , by Abraham Jarvis , second bishop of Connecticut , to Benjamin Williams (see Williams I).

This name as found in old records, both in England and America , is variously spelled as: Otis, Otys , and Oatey . These names are all widely known.

(I) John Otis , founder of the family in America , is usually believed to have been born in Barnstaple, Devon, England , whence he came to Hingham, Massachusetts , in 1635 , and there drew lots in the first division of land. Because this allotment took place in the company of the Rev. Peter Hobart , and his twenty-nine associates, it has been conjectured that, like all this band, John Otis came from Hingham , in Norfolk . It may be, however, that he left Devon and lived for a time at Norfolk , before embarking for America . He married Margaret - .

(II) John (2), son of John (1), and Margaret Otis , was born in England in 1620 , died in Scituate, Massachusetts , January 16, 1684 . He settled first in Hingham , and removed to Scituate about 1662 . He married Mary , who died in 1683 , daughter of Nicholas and Mary Jacob .

(III) Colonel John (3) Otis , son of John (2) and Mary (Jacob) Otis , was born at Hingham, Massachusetts , 1657 , died at Barnstaple, Massachusetts , September 23, 1727 . For twenty years he was the representative of Barnstaple ; commanded the militia of the county; councillor, 1706-27 ; chief justice of the court of common pleas, and first judge of probate. He had fine talents and possessed great wit and humor. Two of his sons occupied important positions at the council and on the bench. He married, July 18, 1683 , Mercy , born February 28, 1659 , daughter of Nathaniel and Hannah (Mayo) Bacon , who were married December 4, 1642 , the former died in October, 1691 ; and granddaughter of William Bacon , of Stretton, England , and of Rev. John and Hannah Mayo . Rev. John Mayo immigrated to New England in 1630 , and was the first minister of the Second Church of Boston, Massachusetts , in 1655 . Among the children of Colonel John Otis were: Nathaniel , see forward; James , who was the father of James Otis , the patriot, and of Mercy (Otis) Warren .

(IV) Nathaniel , son of Colonel John (3) and Mercy (Bacon) Otis , was born July 18, 1690 , died in 1739 . He married Abigail Russell , born October 2, 1687 , whose lines of descent follow.

John Russell , great-grandfather of Abigail (Russell) Otis , was of Cambridge, England , and died May 8, 1680 ; he married Dorothy - . Rev. John , son of John and Dorothy Russell , was born in 1629 , died December 10, 1692 ; he married, June 28, 1649 , Mary Talcott . who died in 1655 , and whose line will be found forward. Jonathan , son of Rev. John and Mary (Talcott) Russell , was born in 1655 ; he married, 1680 , Martha Moody , who died September 28, 1729 (see Moody forward). Abigail , daughter of Jonathan and Martha (Moody) Russell , married Nathaniel Otis , as above stated.

Governors ; island in New York Harbor , named for Governor Van Twiller , who owned it at an early date.

A PASSING LANDMARK

Last Service Conducted In Salem's Churchyard

By FOREST J. M'COMB

Indiana, Allen County, and especially Perry Township is losing one of its old landmarks. It's the Salem Reformed Church located on a corner where the Chapman Road comes down a hill and in the hollow intersects the Auburn Road, right in the heart of Dutch Ridge country in north east Perry Township.

Steps were taken Sunday, Aug. 30th for the complete abandonment and disposal of the building as a church. In a special 3 p.m. service, the cornerstone of the church was removed and given a permanent home in the cemetery directly across the Auburn Road. This was the final step in untangling the legal interpretation of the deed to the half-acre church plot. The cemetery, of course, is owned by the local community and the stone will last there as long as the well-kept cemetery lasts.

It is with a feeling of sadness that we come to the end of an era — an actual parting with the past! Certainly the community must have felt the need when the solid, brick church was built, but it has now fulfilled and outlived its destiny.

A Former Member Walked To Salem

Mrs. Elizabeth Stellhorn, 82 years old, started attending Sunday School and church services there as a 12-year-old girl. She, along with a younger sister, Frances, and Kate and Nellie Bleekman made a practice of walking a little over a mile to the church. I asked Mrs. Stellhorn why services were discontinued some 30 years ago?

"Well — I don't know as I can rightly say," she said, "Seems as if the old ones died off, the automobile came, and the young ones started going way off somewhere on Sunday. It got so the church was too big for regular service but not big enough for funerals!"

Myers, Charles Warner, Otis Bender, Walter Howe, and Albert Garman, who was the last in 1965. The federal government has made some payments toward the upkeep of the cemetery.

In the rear of the cemetery is a row of small slabs that are markers for children and one is dated 1861, 109 years ago.

The cemetery land was given by John Rinehold off his adjoining farm and the half acre church site was from the Mandis Myers farm. Originally, a log church was erected on the Rinehold land and the burying was on Myers soil, but by some strange quirk of fate things were reversed, and the new church was built in 1876 on the parcel of land from Myers at the southwest corner of the Chapman and Auburn Roads. The Rinehold land became the cemetery, and all the graves that could be were moved to it. Later, a brick schoolhouse, District No. 1, was built by the township on the northwest corner of the Chapman and Auburn Roads.

Many years ago, the hollow that became the site of the church, school, and Eli Garman's general store northeast up the hill a half mile or so on the Auburn Road became known as Collingwood.

Today the Garman store is completely gone. And it is a good thing the switch between the church and cemetery ground was made, for the present cemetery is much larger and is on higher ground. But, at the time, who could foresee that one day the schoolhouse would fall to centralization and become a residence (the Edward Glacklin family); the church become obsolete and pass into private hands (Dr. D. F. Eldridge), and only the cemetery is left to carry on with its intended purpose!

In the early days, the society of Dutch Ridge revolved around the church, school, mill and post office. News was difficult to come by before the daily newspaper, telephone and radio came to the country, and folks kept up with it by going to the church, store, and mill. It was then passed on by word-of-mouth. Yet, they had a unique method of spreading the news of death. The church sexton was notified immediately and he tolled the bell the exact number of years the person was old. By counting the tolls and knowing who was critically ill, the community could just about pinpoint the death.

The church wasn't large, as churches go, 34 x 46 feet on its foundation. The bricks were made on the John Warner farm west on the Chapman Road, as were the bricks for the Warner and Kistler houses. The resulting hole became a pond.

The church had three arched windows on each side, and a vestibule with double doors eight feet high was the entrance. A large arch filled with glass was over the doors, and the vestibule rose high over the roof to end in a bell-tower. This tower had four arched openings.

Loyal Yoder, who followed Arlie Fredrick and Anson Warner in serving as cemetery board president, became interested in the preservation of the bell. The board accepted an offer to the cemetery fund and Loyal has the bell at his Chapman Road farm. He expects to some day house it in a museum along with other relics he has accumulated. The thickly cast bell stands 48 inches high in its 59-inch-wide frame, and the frame is 6x6-inch oak timber. The bottom of the bell flares out to 40 inches across; the wooden wheel the ringing rope runs on is 52 inches in diameter, and the clapper is six inches in diameter. The bell also has a separate lever and mallet arrangement for tolling. It is tuned to the key of

B and has a clear mellow tone that could be heard far and wide.

Arlie Fredrick, 87 years old, remembers much of the church history. In the old days it was customary to toll the bell as funeral processions approached the church and again the age of the person was used. This made the timing important as this ceremony should be over by the time the people were inside. As the church was in the hollow, spotters were put on the hills to alert the sexton when to start.

A well-known male quartette sang for many funerals and other occasions. Arthur Bleekman, in his eighties, is the lone survivor. The others were Sam Surfus, Edgar Garman and Albert Souders.

Besides the many fine sermons delivered, the church was the scene of many festive occasions such as Christmas programs, Children's Day, and homecoming celebrations. Art Bleekman took charge of these, and many people came from Fort Wayne, Auburn, Garrett, Waterloo and far away places.

Eli Garman and wife were staunch supporters of the church, and the Harry Martins, latecomers to Dutch Ridge, tell of attending homecomings with the Garmans, and what enjoyable times were had at these events! Besides meeting people, a basket dinner was served in the yard, and a program was held inside the church in the afternoon.

Every church has mainstays who give generously of time and effort, and this fell for many years on John Warner, Custer Surfus, and Jerry Garman. I'm told, Harrison Snyder and Bill Garman could be depended on to stimulate interest by drawing folks into lively arguments at Sunday school over church rhetoric, interpreting scripture, or almost anything. But John Warner aimed to stay out of arguments. Sunday school picnics were usually held in Bill Gar-man's woods north on the Auburn Road.

In 1930, the church needed inside repair, and Rollie Muhn donated extensively to the project. "In honor of my parents," he said, "who were members here!" And Edgar Garman (deceased) also contributed much labor from himself and sawmill hands, and contributions were made over the years by many others in one way or another.

So these people of years ago, tied together in many ways, made their own entertainment and lived the good life. They exchanged the labor of planting, harvesting, butchering, and barn-raising. They had their Sunday school picnics and church suppers, and their box socials and debates at the schoolhouse. They shared each other's joys and sorrows, and could laugh at a joke.

Ark Bleekman, who recently lost his wife, tells of their marriage of many years ago. The couple had planned a quiet Saturday evening home ceremony and Rev. Rowe was coming to perform it at six o'clock. Some relatives, hearing of the impending wedding, wanted to come.

"All right — come on!" Art said. "The more the merrier!"

On the way over, these folks stopped to get some more relatives to come along and were finagled into helping do their chores. Art grins when telling about it, "By the time they got here it was too late, the wedding was over!"

And, the Dutch Ridge people stood up well under a ribbing. There was a time when the Stirlen Debating Team challenged the team at the Dutch Ridge School. Wanting to contribute to the entertainment after the debate, the Stirlen lads concocted two songs — one to sing in case they won, and another to sing if they lost. It happened they won, and the song they sang started with this:

"Oh Collingwood, you are no good."

"When Stirlen speaks up here . . ."

The song they didn't have to use has long been forgotten.

Approximately 100 people turned out for the cornerstone ceremony. Most were folks who either attended at Dutch Ridge or had relatives that died and are buried there. The cornerstone was opened at its cemetery site, and great interest was shown in the contents deposited 94 years ago. On account of a high wind, the contents were moved to Loyal Yoder's residence, where they proved to be:

1 Holy Bible by the American Society — dated 1876,

1 book containing Psalms and Hymns of the church — 1872,

1 Heidelberg catechism from Philadelphia — 1874,

1 Christian World, a Cincinnati newspaper, July 27, 1876,

1 Reformed Church newspaper, Aug. 3, 1876, written in German.

A letter containing an account of the cornerstone laying, and another paper listing the members of the church.

These valuable papers are expected to be placed with the Allen County-Fort Wayne Historical Society. Anyone wishing a copy of the list may contact Jack Surfus, Grabill, R. R. 2, secretary-treasurer of the Cemetery Association. Harry Warner is president, and Huntertown, R. R. 1 is the address.

Rev. P. Ruhl was pastor when the church was built in 1876, and the cornerstone carries his name. Other pastors who served over the years are: The Reverends Frank Rupnov, Worthman, Zarkman, Rowe, Michaels, Remensnider, Hafley, and Carl Grim. After regular services were stopped the church was still opened for funerals. The last was for Maylon Warner in 1952.

Pennsylvania Dutch Settled The Area

The Dutch Ridge country acquired its name from the Pennsylvania Dutch settlers who came in when Indiana was opened for settlement in 1832. The first ones were attracted by the large trees for to them, big trees meant rich soil. It's true, Dutch Ridge has some hard-clay hills but it also has many rich, fertile acres and late-comers probably wanted to be close to friends. So, many fine farms were developed on the Ridge.

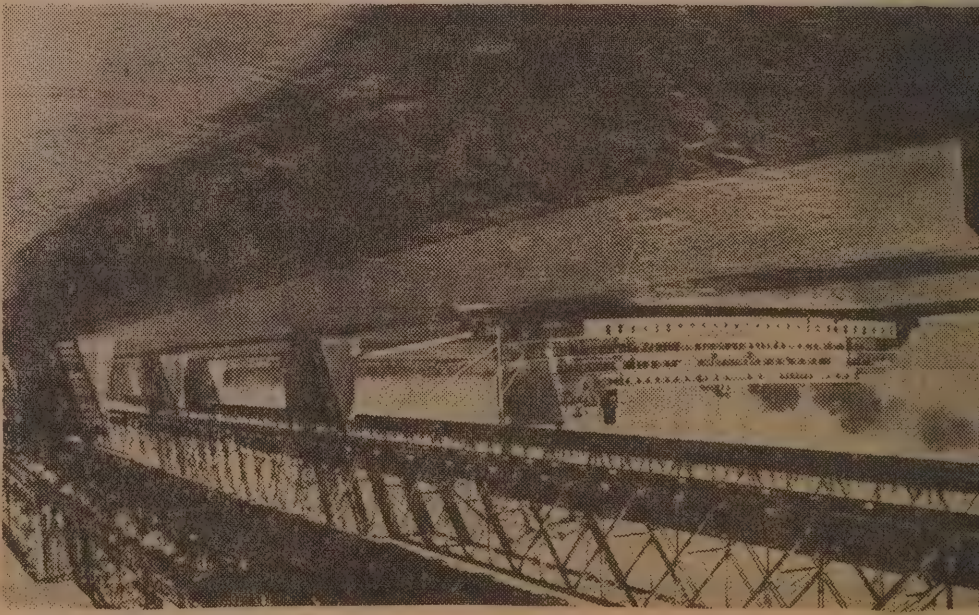

The names on the monuments in the small but neat cemetery just about tell the story. Many are Warner, Garman, Snyder, Hensinger, Rinehold, Myers, Smith, and Fredrick, but there's also Lincoln, Fisher, Muhn, Bender, Surfus, Vandolah, Moudy, one Perry, another Schnieder family with a different spelling, and also Otho, Laura and Theodore Boren. The known U.S. soldiers buried there are Milt

The Stratton Family

Any stories about the Stratton Family, for the most part, has to be about Sarah Elizabeth Fitch Stratton. She was born 10th in the family of Nathaniel and Sarah Elizabeth Fitch, and was the first child born in the new house, or the Homestead House. She went to the Fitch School and must have spent some time at The Seminary, for she recalled one of her big brothers putting her on the rail fence to watch the Troops marching from Coldwater, with fife and drum, and supply wagons, to entrain at Fort Wayne. At some time she must have spent some time at Valpariso University and at Hillsdale Michigan.

Among the many stories told about her parents, I think the one about the Cholera Plague that swept the early settlements. Grandmother and Grandfather went nightly to help the sick and dying. They changed clothes down by the creek, and she went to nurse and he to make coffins. In the morning they would bathe in the cold creek and put on the clothing they had left there before returning to their families. I have heard this directly from Grandmother. She always had her own riding horse she said.

When her sister Jane was at Wabash in 1875 or 1876 she went to Wabash to go to school and help Jane with her children and her house. At Wabash she met a young man, Irving Franklin Stratton who was reading Law with his brother in law Alvah Taylor. Later Stratton with his brother Jerome set up a Law Practice at Fort Wayne, he later won a Judgeship in Allen County. He often went to see Sarah Elizabeth during those years. She taught school in several Townships and Jerome Gloyd was always urging her to take a school that had bad Discipline problems. One summer at home she recalled helping with the building of the Amos Fitch Homestead. She and her Mother cooked for the workers and she drove a wagon over there each day with their noon dinner. She and Idah both taught at Country Schools. Idah was a graduate of Fort Wayne College and also taught at New Haven where she met Melville Mason, who later graduated from Michigan Dehtistry College.

Mother and Father were married at a double wedding with sister Emma and Allen Hartzell, Dec. 28, 1881. She said that she wore a plumb colored velvet with a white bonnet with seed pearls. Sister Fie was a beautiful ~~seamstress~~ seamstress and had taught her to sew. I think that the velvet gown later became a suit for little Leander.

The folks built a house at Fort Wayne on Washington Avenue, near Broadway, and friends of sisters now own that property. Father was always most interested in horses and especially the trotters. There were always races at Fairs and the track was used at Sweeny Park. I think Mother was a little more conservative and did not care too much about money spent for such horses. Father was having problems with his brother who liked his bottle a little too much. It was not good for a Judge to be trying to help out with him. So the folks sold out and went to Wichita where father had relatives and Mother had friends. Mother was closer to Aunt Frank and I recall many trips to Alden and visits from the Fair family.

A home was built there and my early years were at that house. The Barn and Carriage House were built before the main house and Harold was born in the Barn where the family had set up housekeeping until the Main House was completed. This was 1888. My memories of the house are of a large garden on one side with three beautiful apricot trees next to the house for good eating and shade. Mother never lived anyplace that she did not soon have a garden and trees and flowering plants in the house. On the other side past the drive was the peach orchard and strawberry beds. Kansas was prairie and the back yard was bare and wind swept. Plenty of wind too. I remember seeing a whole line of clothes blown away. That area of Wichita was College Hill and the folks were there during the Boom and Bust years. I think the folks finally lost a lot of money there. Mother said that when Oklahoma Territory was opened up she wanted to go and try for land and Father had been asked to go for they said he could eventually be Governor because of his Legal training, he was then a Judge in Wichita.

The fever to move on ^{West} was across the land and Father wanted to go to California. Some of his family had already gone on there and were urging him to come too. A railway car was used, and the stock, and the two race horses, and household goods they wanted, with Leander and Father went on West to San Bernadino. In a few days a telegram came that Father had been killed. He was exercising one of the horses with the sulkey and was hit by an electric train. The horse was destroyed, and Father only lived a few hours. Father had been crippled in early years by a horse, and that might have had something to do with his not controlling the horse. Aunt Idah came, and got us to go back to Fort Wayne. Mother always felt that she should have gone on to California, that she could have won a Law Suit there with the Rail Company. And that was the end of our Kansas Years.

We lived at Lakeside in Fort Wayne from the Spring of 1902 until 1909. Those were good years in some ways and in others very difficult for Mother. She did anything to make a home and keep her family together. For the first year we lived with the Masons but that was no good for either family. Mother finally built a house on the Loree side of property that Aunt Idah owned and we made that our home for the next years. Mother did the washing for the Dental Office and took care of Idah's house. She cared for some elderly women and made a home for them. I recall that Della Gloyd lived with us a good many years until she was too ill to work. Audrey Fitch ~~it~~ spent some time with us too until she was married.

Leander had a very serious illness while there, the second time he had had Rheumatic Fever and we nearly lost him. He always wanted to go back West and he did go and spent some time at the Fairs where he was very happy. Harold had to drop out of school to help out and he worked as a Call Boy for the Railroad and later was with a car tracing company for several years. That work took him to Milwaukee and he was determined to have more education. So the next we knew he was in Colorado working his way to go to a Prep School to take up Mining.

I went to Lakeside School and Clay Street School and Helen only had one year of High School left when we left Ft. Wayne. I loved the times we got to go to the Country and Mother took we two girls and spent several summers with Grandmother. I remember Reunions at that home under the big walnut tree in the yard, several at Ames Home, Mathias, Gloyds and even the Hartzell Home at New Haven. Mother always went to help with Harvesting times with her various sisters and I remember a Barn Raising at the Gloyds. Those were good years to remember.

The two boys in the family wound up at the Steel Mill at the then new Gary, Indiana and we decided to go there and make a home and help them as well as ourselves. We had really been too close to Aunt Idah and under her dominance too long and Mother felt she could and would do better on her own.

I loved the years that I went to High School, it was a new school, a new system and such an adventure. Helen graduated there head of her class, Harold jammed a lot of courses into one year and was able to enter Purdue University. I did not do so well grade wise but as I used to tell Mother I passed. Mother built a large house there for there were many young men to room and board that worked in the several plants and Mills. She worked very hard but she was a wonderful manager and we always had good food and money to do the things that the other school children did and had. Strat and I have always been so glad that in her later years we were able to pay her back for all of that.

Leander and Helen both married while there at Gary and they had families and their own lives to work for. Leanders wife was ill and he wanted to go West after her death. Helen and Claude had many moves, Hammond, Lafayette, Cincinnati and finally back to Fort Wayne again.

I got two years of College at a Expression School in Chicago, lived at home and commuted each day. I have always been a voracious reader and altho Music could have been my best love we did not have money enough for that expensive education. So speech was the next best thing and school teaching. I did not do too badly at that.

Mother and I have always been so proud of the things that Harold(we call him Strat) has been able to do with his life. From Purdue he would up in the Isaac Johnson Foundry in New York and was soon plant Superintendent there. In World War One the German Liner Leviathan had been impounded in New York Harbor and the Germans wrecked the engines. Strat took his pattern Makers from the Plant and they rebuilt all of that and the liner was used as a Troop Ship the rest of the war. He was with Johnsons until the Harlem Ship Canal was put across the Foundry site and the plant was closed up. He then spent eight years at McKeesport, Pa. with a Foundry there. He knew of a Foundry at Parkersburg, West Virginia that was not making a go of it and he and a man from Parkersburg were urged by the Banks to take it over. They bought into it on the steps of the Court House and it has been Mountain State Steel Foundry since 1928. And it has been all his know how and Push that has done it. I think that he is a Throw Back to his Grandfather Fitch. When he gets to pushing a little too much I tell him his Fitch is showing.

Leander got Mother and me to move with him to Montana. He has remained there ever since and has done his beloved ranching and lived a pretty good life, and raised a nice family. I taught at a Country School and then went in the County Superintendts office. A young man from the War in Europe was a teacher in the High School and we were quite attracted to each other. We were married at Urbana, Illinois and taught in Ill. one year. We then went to Champaign for him to finish his degrees, Mother was with us at that time and from there we went to Virginia, at V.P.I. Clarence became ill there and the War had caught up with the young Lieutenant. We only had eight years together and I had a young man to raise. Mother was like a brick wall at my back and said you do not stop here. We went to Peabody, at Nashville and I got my degree there and than we were going to go with Strat and make our home. ~~I thought but I would up in the Foundry too and loved it.~~ I to teach I thought but I would up in the Foundry too and loved it.

And so the English Teacher would up as Office Manager of a Steel Founry. Strat has never married. He had met a girl in New York and they had planned to marry and she died very suddenly, and no other girl came along to take that place. He wanted me to come to Parkersburg and we would both make a home for Mother and ourselves and my son. I had no office experience but with the help of Auditors I did a good job on books and hanging onto money, but I never did learn to type well as you can see by these notes. Strat and I look back on years at Parkersburg as a very good time of our lives. We built a home there and as far as Mother was concerned she was always the head of a house. I made Strat work until he was 72 so that I could retire at 65. We played a lot of golf and did some traveling.

My son Bob had always had trouble with Asthma so we decided to send him to a Private School in Asheville. It was fine for his health and for his education. He finished there and after that did two Degrees at M.I.T. As an Aeronautical Engineer we almost lost him. He was on the Flying Boat that Mars that the Test Pilot crashed and broke up in Chesapeake Bay. Bob was rescued and came thru with a minor concussion. He later worked at Convair in Texas and after a time there decided that if we expected him to help out at the Foundry he had better come there while Strat was still there. He is now Vice President and Manager there and is doing a job that we are very proud of.

We had made several trips to Florida and decided that might be the place we would like to retire, for Strat never would have left work if he had stayed near the Shop. We liked it here at Fort Lauderdale and saw this smaller village develop just north of the big City. We built on a canal here and Mother said she had never thought she would get to build another home. She lived ten years with winter stays here in Florida. We built here in 1948 and came to stay in 1960 for year around living.

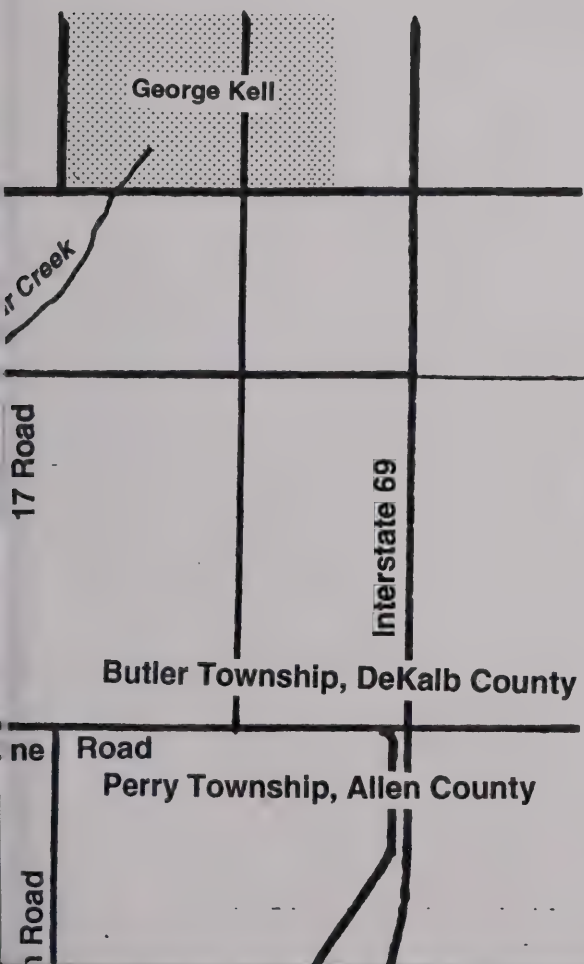

We got to make two trips to Europe which we both enjoyed very much. One was to all of the Capitals of Eastern Europe and we liked a good tour of England. We both have a few minor health problems but we are on our feet and doing pretty well we think. We do not drive any more but an Essie Mae who helps us out a few days a week can drive and thus helps us out on errands. We exercise in the pool every day the sun is out and that is good for aches and pains we might have thought up. I have about run out of things to say about the Strattons and this is quite enough.
